Truman May Not Run If Working Truce Pans Out

Democrat Chairman Opines That Korea Situation Big Factor

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Democratic Chairman Frank E. McKinney suggested today that President Truman may not run for re-election if a "satisfactory" truce is reached in Korea.

McKinney told a news conference the Korean situation is a "paramount" factor in Truman's consideration.

And he said his own opinion, based on conversations with the President, is that "his decision will be predicated on the success or failure of resolving the Korean situation satisfactorily."

Would Feel Job Done

McKinney added that personally, if he had undertaken a job of such importance as Korea, and it was accomplished, he would feel that his job was done.

McKinney has just completed two days of talks with Truman. When he came here, there were reports that some influential party leaders were insisting he should seek definite word from the President as to his intentions.

The suggestion that Truman's decision hinged on the outcome in Korea developed in a sparring exchange with reporters.

He was asked whether "a Korean settlement would lessen the chances of Mr. Truman seeking re-election."

McKinney replied: "In my opinion, it may, and that is my opinion."

Won't Dictate Nominee

McKinney said that if Truman does not run the President will not attempt to dictate the Democratic nominee but will favor an "open convention."

McKinney also said the President will not make any announcement of his intentions to the Jefferson-Jackson dinner of the Democratic party in Washington March 29, but will "in ample time before the July convention" to clear the way for other candidates.

McKinney said his own target date for public word from the President is May 15 when the Democratic Executive Committee meets in Chicago to pick a keynoter and other officers for the convention.

As to prospects for a Korean truce, McKinney told reporters: "The wish may be father to the thought, but it is hoped that the Korean situation can be resolved by convention time or at least by election time."

Eleven Pay Fines On Patrol Charges

Six arrests for overloading, four for speeding and one for failure to yield the right of way resulted in hearings yesterday before Mayor Harry M. Vincent. The arrests were made by the State Patrol.

Those arrested for overloading were:

William P. Schebesch, 34, of RD 2, Salem, fined $25 and costs; George M. Aber, 52, of Clarendon, Pa., fined $25 and costs; Kenneth L. Apple, 24, of RD 3, Lisbon, fined $25 and costs; Ross Venricks, 37, of Middletown, fined $48 and costs; and Jack Stapleton, 25, of Scio, fined $25 and costs.

Those fined $15 and costs for speeding were:

Guy C. Whiteside, 43, of Detroit; Glenn P. Bruderly, 18, of 647 Wilson St.; Mary F. Martin, 28, of Berlin Center; and Ted Stanley Szkola, 38, of 404 Wilson St.

Robert E. Snyder, 28, of Hanoverton was fined $20 and costs for failure to give the right of way.

McGrath, Other Justice Dept. Staffers Asked For Income Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political bomb-bursts rolled up and down Pennsylvania Avenue today as corruption probes-within-probes veered off in unpredictable directions.

These developments stood out in the bitter election-year struggle between the Truman administration and its critics:

1. Newbold Morris, President Truman's specially appointed corruption sleuth, called on Attorney General McGrath (his own immediate superior) and 595 other top Justic Department officials to submit detailed data on the financial status of themselves and their immediate kin.

The questions asked ranged from stock market speculation and gambling to how many fur coats are now in the family compared with five years ago.

2. A House Judiciary Subcommittee set up in the wake of congressional disclosures of tax collection scandals asked Truman for a look at the income tax returns of McGrath and 19 of his aides.

To Appear March 26

3. The same committee asked McGrath to appear for questioning March 26 in connection with the committee's own investigation of Justice Department affairs. Republican presidential possibility Harold E. Stassen has suggested an inquiry into reports that McGrath has become a millionaire in his 21 years in public office.

4. The Senate Judiciary Committee rejected Truman's request that investigator Morris be given power to subpoena witnesses and require the production of records from non-government sources.

Instead, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said his group had approved "a new approach" to the government cleanup problem. This would involve presidential appointment of a chief investigator and five assistants who, unlike Morris, would be subject to Senate confirmation.

Thieves Take Million In Securities

DETROIT (AP)—Three former house servants of a wealthy lumber dealer who "didn't trust banks" were questioned today in the disappearance of close to a million dollars in securities from his home.

A strong box containing non-negotiable stocks and bonds was taken from its hiding place under a closet shelf in the suburban home of Melvin Gutherie, 52.

Actual cash in the box was about $500, Gutherie told police. He said he had kept his securities in the box after his bank crashed in the depression.

Gutherie said he believed the strong box was taken while the family was on a recent vacation in Florida. He discovered its loss Monday night, he said, when "I had some spare time and wanted to check some stocks."

"You can bet I was surprised," Gutherie added.

Missing were securities worth between $750,000 and $1,000,000 and from $27,000 to $35,000 in defense bonds. Gutherie said the thief would find it almost impossible to convert the securities into cash.

Held without charge for questioning were Thomas Hill, 40, a former handyman for the family, his wife, Delia, 38, and John W. Jackson, a truck driver. All denied any knowledge of the robbery.

Wisconsin Won't Count Write-In Votes April 1

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Write-in votes for Gen. Eisenhower or any other candidate will not be counted in the Wisconsin presidential primary April 1. Any such vote would invalidate the ballot.

Gaige Roberts, director of the Department of Elections for the Wisconsin Secretary of State's office, explained today that statutes will not permit a write-in campaign similar to that staged by Eisenhower supporters in Minnesota. Eisenhower isn't entered in the Wisconsin promary.

Roberts said write-in votes for presidential candidates "are not provided for under Wisconsin statutes; will not be counted or recognized and would invalidate any ballot so marked."

WSB Battles To Avert Strike

Steel Union To Decide On Walkout Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 18-member Wage Stabilization Board goes into a marathon session today to frame recommendations for settling the big steel labor dispute.

The WSB, having already rejected an offer from its industry members to give the CIO steelworkers a 13.7-cents-an-hour boost in pay and other benefits raced against time.

A walkout of 650,000 workers in the nation's basic steel industry is threatened for midnight Sunday.

Murray Awaits Proposal

CIO Chieftain Philip Murray, head of the steelworkers union, was waiting to see the WSB's proposed solution before advising his 170-member policy committee at a meeting here tomorrow whether to postpone the walkout.

A steel strike would be "a first-class national disaster," Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann said yesterday. In a statement to the New York Sales Executive Club, he said it would seriously impair the atomic energy and munitions programs.

A few firms scheduled preliminary moves today, leading to a possible shutdown of operations. The giant U.S. Steel Corp. disclosed it is changing the burden in three ferro-manganese furnaces. That means the load of the steel making furnaces was being changed slightly in preparation for a possible complete shutdown later. A slight loss of production will result from the move.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. also is taking preliminary steps toward a possible shutting down process which would gather speed tomorrow if the strike appears certain.

The WSB has asked for a strike delay at least until April 8 to give the industry and union time to bargain on the basis of the board's findings.

Plane Crash-Lands, Kills Two Women

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two women golfers were killed today by a Navy plane which crash-landed on Timuquana Golf Course today.

The two women were identified as Mrs. Brady Johnson, prominent Jacksonville golfer and wife of an official of the Dinsmore Dairies, and Mrs. William Dempsey, wife of a Jacksonville contractor.

The plane was a Corsair fighter. Its forced landing did not injure the pilot, who was not immediately identified.

The Timuquana club is next to the Naval Air Station about 10 miles south of Jacksonville.

Weller said the engine was dead and he hadn't heard the plane coming down. He said a caddy, standing about 10 yards from the two women was unhurt.

The plane cut down both golfers. "I've been in two wars but I never saw anything so ghastly," Weller said.

Only One Official Misses City Council

"We're batting 88 per cent," commented Councilman Robert K. Carpenter when he arose at the conclusion of Tuesday's meeting to thank seven municipal officials for their attendance.

At the previous session Councilman Carpenter had made a motion that the clerk be instructed to send a letter to each of the eight city officers, requesting their presence at future meetings.

Prior to his motion several other solons had expressed indignation that only the mayor, city solicitor, water superintendent and council clerk attended the sessions regularly.

City Auditor Helen R. Betz was the only official absent at Tuesday's gathering.

General Fund Tapped To Pay Police, Desk Men

Council Acts After Parking Meter Fund Is Found Inadequate

Salem City Council, at Tuesday night's meeting, approved a motion that the salary ordinance be amended to legalize payment of wages to three patrolmen and the three police deskmen out of the general fund, instead of the parking meter fund as authorized.

Finance Committee Chairman Fred Koenreich, in making the motion, said that the men were being paid out of the general fund anyway, since the parking meter fund has been practically depleted by the transfer of money from it in January to meet the city's payroll, and that he felt it was a better arrangement.

Would Keep Fund Intact

He told other councilmen that neither he nor Mayor Harry M. Vincent approved City Auditor Helen R. Betz's request that the parking meter fund be abolished entirely. He said he felt that the existence of this found would provide Council with a closer "check" in the money available for new meters and police cruisers, which have been purchased in the past through this source.

Mr. Koenreich also reported that the finance committee would request that a special Council meeting be called sometime later this month for the purpose of passing the annual appropriation ordinance.

Equipment For Engineer

Another motion by Mr. Koenreich, that the safety-service director be authorized to purchase approximately $1,200 worth of drafting equipment for the engineer's office, was approved by Council.

Water Superintendent B. V. BeVier, in his report, said that the construction of the filtration plant at the city's East Cold Run reservoir was proceeding smoothly. Work on the superstructure, which will house the filter equipment, is scheduled to start soon, he said.

Mr. BeVier asked that Council act on the Water Commission's request that one bond be taken out to cover all members of the the individual bonds in existence at present. He reiterated that such an action would effect a considerable saving to the city.

City Solicitor W. J. Hunston pointed out that since the present bonds would not expire for some time yet, no immediate legislation is necessary.

Missing Man Found; Tries To Kill Self

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A missing University of Cincinnati student was in critical condition in Mount Sinai Hospital today after what police described as a suicide attempt in his jail cell.

The student, Helmut Graef, 23, is the son of the general manager of an Austrian auto manufacturing plant. He had been missing from his classes at Cincinnati for a week and a half.

He was located early today at a Miami Beach hotel (Blackstone) and picked up as a "missing person" by Miami Beach police.

Detective Sergeant Peter Stewart said he was given a "routine search and then placed in a cell. He didn't say much at the time."

A couple of hours later, police went back to place another man in the cell.

"Graef was unconscious in a pool of blood," Stewart said. "There was a razor blade on the floor. He had cut a main artery near the left elbow with a single edged razor blade."

The student was rushed to Mount Sinai Hospital for emergency treatment. A police detective went with him.

Planning Ordinance, Parking Lot Study Before City Council

The first reading of an ordinance authorizing the addition of two members to the present five-man City Planning Commission was heard by City Council Tuesday.

At the previous session Mayor Harry M. Vincent had requested that such action be taken, in keeping with recommendations set forth by the Ohio code.

Under the present arrangement the Commission consists of three citizen members, and two ex-officio members, Mayor Vincent and Safety-Service Director J. Arch Harwood. Under the state code, the chairman of the Park Commission also should be a member ex-officio of the Planning Commission and its complement would be completed by the addition of a regular member.

Appointments Confirmed

Council approved the mayor's appointment of Louis G. Probst to the Planning Commission and the reappointment of Gail Herron to the Park Commission.

A recommendation by Safety Committee Chairman George H. Bowman Jr. that Council take some steps to acquire municipal parking lots close to the business district was accepted and referred to the finance, safety, and lands and buildings committees for further deliberation.

A petition signed by 89 business and professional people was presened to Council Feb. 5, asking the city to requisition and use as public parking lots suitable lands in the area bounded by Lincoln and Ellsworth Avenues and Second and Columbia Streets.

Would Widen Corner

Another motion by Mr. Bowman, that the city begin action to acquire approximately 10 square feet of land situated at the southeast intersection of State St. and Lincoln Ave. and owned by the American Legion Post, was referred by Council President Massa to the engineer for further study.

Mr. Bowman stated that the flow of northbound traffic on S. Lincoln Ave. would be greatly expedited if the city acquired the property and marked off two lanes at the intersection for northbound and eastbound vehicles.

In other matters Council:

Heard a report from City Engineer F. S. Barckoff concerning assessment estimates of the proposed Oak St. sanitary sewer.

Heard a report by Safety-Service Director Harwood on the poor condition of several city street and methods undertaken to repair them.

Asks Council Act On Wage Increase Plea

Salem City Council heard a request by Fireman Fred J. Theiss at its meeting Tuesday that it "speed up," if possible, action on the wage-increase petitions submitted by city employes last October.

He was assured by Finance Committee Chairman Fred Koenreich that Council would take some steps on the matter as soon as the 1952 appropriation ordinance was passed and the committee learned how the city stood financially.

Mr. Theiss told Council that rising costs were inflicting considerable hardship on the group he represents since city pay rates had not kept pace with living expenses.

"This inflationary spiral isn't our fault," he said, " but we're holding the bag for it." He claim-that since the initial wage-increase petitions were submitted in 1949, industry had witnessed two rounds of raises and city workers had gotten none.

At this point Councilman Michael Schuller said that if industry had gotten such wage increases, he had missed them. He said that he was not voicing objections to the city employes' petitions, he merely wanted to correct Mr. Theiss' statement.

Red Cross Drive At Half-Way Point

Salem's Red Cross drive has passed the half-way mark with donations totaling $9,201.04 reported today, an increase of almost $3,000 over last Friday's total.

Miss Hazel Linn, chapter secretary, said donations were beginning to come in faster now and she felt sure the campaign would reach its $18,280 goal by the March 31 closing date.

Factory donations were now being turned in, Miss Linn said, and the more favorable weather has permitted house-to-house canvassers to reach the public.

Only $5,560 of the campaign money is to be turned over to national headquarters. The balance will remain with the local chapter for local work.

Blair K. Patterson and Robert Heddleston are chairmen of the Salem drive.

Write-Ins Give Him 39 Per Cent Of Primary Vote

Stassen Receives 42; Kefauver Has Heavy Margin Over Truman

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — With nearly two-thirds of the precincts reporting, write-in candidate Gen. Dwight Eisenhower had won an amazing 39 per cent of the Republican total in Minnesota's presidential primary election Tuesday.

"Favorite son" Harold E. Stassen, whose name was printed on the ballot, got about 42 per cent.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), whose name was not printed on the ballot, got 8.4 per cent of the GOP vote.

The drive for the write-in vote, most always difficult to capture, had been started by Minnesotans for Eisenhower only last Friday, following the attorney general's ruling that such votes would count.

Won't Get Delegates

Amid a confusion of court actions and legal opinions surrounding the primary, voters took the trouble to run up an unprecedented write-in total for Eisenhower in Minnesota. Even write-in voting on machines—a mystery to most persons before they entered polling places—was heavy.

Despite the fact Eisenhower made an astonishing showing against former Governor Stassen, the election will not automatically mean any national convention delegates for him. No delegate provision for write-in candidates is contained in the primary law. It appeared that only court action or national or state convention maneuvering could mean any Minnesota delegates for Eisenhower.

Sen. Humphrey Entered

In the Democratic write-in voting, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) had a heavy margin over President Truman. However, observers felt that much of the Truman vote had gone to Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), whose name was the only one printed on the Democratic ballot. Humphrey had announced he would turn over his delegation to Mr. Truman should the President decide to run again. No Minnesota campaign had been conducted for Truman, while a small, but vocal group had talked up Kefauver.

With 2,733 of Minnesota's 3,769 precincts reporting, Eisenhower had 98,616 votes, compared with 110,735 for Stassen. Edward C. Slettedahl, a political unknown whose name was also printed on the GOP ballot, got 19,075 votes. Other Republican write-in totals were 21,534 for Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), 4,685 for Gov. Earl Warren of California and 1,383 for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Humphrey — the only Democratic ballot candidate—polled 88,486 votes. Kefauver had 17,489 write-ins and Truman 3,121 write-ins.

St. Paul, Duluth and three smaller cities used voting machines in the primary.

In the 2,227 precincts reporting, a total of 338,867 votes was cast. Of this total, 137,657, were write-ins and 201,210 were ballot votes.

Youth Awarded 4-H Citation

Edward Redpath Given Fitzpatrick Memorial

COLUMBIANA—Edward Redpath, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Redpath of Columbiana - Salem Rd., received the James Fitzpatrick annual memorial award from the Rotary Club as the most outstanding 4-H member in Fairfield Township at the annual banquet given 4-H members by the club at Fairfield Centralized School Monday evening.

The award, honoring the memory of a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fitzpatrick who was killed in World War II, was made by Dr. K. P. Murphy, president of the club. Redpath is a graduate of Columbiana High School and is a junior at Ohio State University.

There were 130 diners at tables decorated with green 4-H clover leaves, which were also in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. Tom Collela of New Waterford played the accordion during the dinner, which was served by ladies of the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

The dinner also marked the 50th anniversary of the founding of 4-H work in the U. S.

Elaine Carroll, speaker and writer of WKBN, Youngstown, spoke on "The Road Ahead," mostly advice for young people. Guests included Columbiana County Extension Agent Floyd Lower and Mrs. Lower; Harry Smith, assistant extension agent and supervisor of 4-H work, and Mrs. Smith; Mrs. J. W. Pendry, in charge of Columbiana County 4-H work; three high school seniors, Carol Poulton, Marilyn Nolan and Joan Bevington, and two visiting Rotarians, W. H. Matthews and J. T. Darling of Salem.

Today, members of the club took seniors of Columbiana and Fairfield Centralized High Schools to East Palestine to visit the Kenmar Furniture Co. and Fitzpatrick Industries. Allan T. White, past president of the club, is manager of the Fitzpatrick plant which produces ceramics. Students were shown the Franklin furniture plant in Columbiana last year.

Bus Chartered

Members of the Kiwanis Club will go to East Liverpool for an inter-city club meeting Thursday evening in a chartered bus. The bus will leave the square at 5:30. Dr. C. W. Dewalt, district treasurer and member of the Columbiana club, will be speaker, Clarence Koch is committee chairman.

At its meeting Monday evening the club voted to support the blod typing project of the Columbiana Civil Defense Council. Mrs. William Arn, who has charge of the project, made the request through Dr. Dewalt.

Lloyd Crawford, chairman of the under privileged children committe, presented Rigby Mast, Columbiana County welfare director, as speaker. Mast eplained how the special tax levy for this cause, voted every two years, is expended.

A small percentage of dependent children in the county are actual orphans, and, as the county has no orphanage since its withdrawal from the Fairmount Home project, orphans are cared for in foster homes at county expense, he said.

Most of the dependent children are from broken homes, he added. Their keep is largely paid for by services rendered the people with whom they live, he explained. Some are given homes by benefactors who want companionship. Few children are sent from Columbiana County to the State Industrial School, Mast went on.

A trust fund set up by civic organizations and clubs is putting qualified students through institutions of higher learning on a basis of paying back if they can. All helped thus far have repaid the money advanced, he pointed out. Compared with other counties, Columbiana is low in expenditures for dependent children, which seldom amounts to more than $20 a month for one child, Mast said.

The bowling team of the Columbiana club, Ray Miller, W. B. Miller, Dr. George Myers, Walter Crawford and Mark Klingensmith, will go to the Ohio district tournament in Akron next Saturday.

Edward Bond of Cleveland and Frank Myers of Columbiana were guests of R. J. Barrow, lieutenant governor of the 15th Division of Kiwanis, at the meeting Monday evening.

Because she was born on the 40th anniversary of Girl Scouting March 12, the Salem Girl Scout Council honored the black-haired infant with a certificate of membership and a cup engraved "Girl Scout Baby of 1952," Making the presentation are Betty Ward, Council public relations chairman, and Mrs. Frederick Barckhoff, Jr., Council president.

Mata, Hari In Salem High Friday Night

MATA AND HARI, the comedy dancers, longtime concert favorites and now top television attraction on the "Show of Shows" will present a comedy program at the high school auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Friday. This is the final presentation of the current series of the northern Columbiana County Community Concert Association.

The Swiss-born dancers and their troupe have been delighting American concert audiences since 147. As satirists they dare to spoof such institutions as the ballet, the sports newsreel, Carnegie Hall, modern art and Hollywood.

Lothar Perl is composer-pianist for the dancers. Their program includes:

"Sports News Reel" by Mata and Hari and company; "Penny Arcade" with the Shoeshine Boy, Passerby and the Lovers; "The Hindu Fakir Show"; "Movie Struck" (scene; Hollywood office) the Producer, the Girl who wants to crash the movies and the Yes Men; "Marionettes Theater."

"In the Circus" (the clowns, tumblers, ring master, zebra and acrobats; "On Display" (scene: 5th Avenue, the Gentleman, Mannequins and Policemen.

"A Painting" (rejected by the Museum of Modern Art) and "Carnegie Hall" by Mata and Hari in "Mr. and Mrs." and "Symphony in 2 Sharp Major." All dances are conceived and chorographed by Mata and Hari.

Membership renewals will be accepted the evening of the concert and annual membership drive will open with the campaign dinner at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Presbyterian Church.

The price of the membership will be the same as other years for both adults and students. However, due to the federal tax amendments of last fall, exempting such groups as the Columbiana County Concert Association from tax, all membership funds will be available to bring top concert artists to Salem.

Health Departments Explained To Rotary

Operations of the city and county health departments were explained to members of the Rotary Club Tuesday noon in the Memorial Building.

The speakers were Mrs. Sybil Degnan of Lisbon, nurse in the Columbiana County Health Department, and Mrs. Mary Vandenburgh, Salem city health nurse.

H. O. Stanley was program chairman.

Agreement Near On Entry Ports

Reds, Allies Close To Okaying Use Of 10

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied spokesmen reported truce negotiators neared agreement today on the ten ports of entry to be used during a Korean armistice.

United Nations negotiators proposed a compromise. The Communists promised to think it over. At the end of their 53-minute discussion, Col. Andrew J. Kinney said:

"It appears that we are in agreement on the better part of the ports question."

Another group of staff officers met for only a few minutes because neither side could answer a series of questions asked previously by the other concerning exchange of prisoners.

Unverified rumors circulated around the truce village of Panmunjom that some new step was in the making to break the long deadlock over prisoners.

Communist newsmen, who often reflect the view of Red delegates, talked of a truce agreement in three or four weeks.

The major disagreements stand in the way of an armistice. There has been no indication a solution was near on any. The key disputes:

1. Voluntary repatriation of prisoners as demanded by the Allies versus forced repatriation demanded by the Reds.

2. The question of whether Communists should be allowed to repair their damaged airfields during a truce.

3. Communist insistence on Soviet Russia as a neutral nation to supervise an armistice and U. N. refusal to consider it.

These neutrals would check on the flow of men and materials coming into Korea as replacements through the ten ports of entry—five on each side.

Meanwhile, outnumbered American Sabre pilots damaged two Red MIG-15's today in a jet battle fought above the clouds of northwest Korea.

Eighteen Sabres fought 36 MIGs in a 15-minute afternon battle that ranged from seven to 2½ miles above the ground.

Rain storms grounded the planes during the morning and soaked the quiet battlefront.

But it was a bright day for Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander. He celebrated his 60th birthday with his son, an Air Force lieutenant he had not seen for 15 months.

James Jr., arrived in Korea Friday. He flew to Eighth Army headquarters at Seoul in one of the 30 all-weather planes to take the air this morning. He begins flying combat missions as pilot of a B-26 bomber next week.

General Van Fleet told visiting newsmen that Red infantrymen could break through the United Nations lines if they wanted to pay the price in casualties—but the Allies would pinch off any such thrust. Then, he said, the Allies would follow up with a counter-offensive of their own.

The Eighth Army reported 39 dead Chinese were counted after a 1,000-man Red attack Tuesday northeast of Panmunjom, truce talk site. Only patrol clashes were reported Wednesday morning, the longest fight lasting 40 minutes.

Two Little Birds

Kathy Kelly, 11 months old, gets the bird, and she loves it. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has a devoted pet and companion in "Echo," a parakeet. Echo, like Kathy, hasn't yet learned to talk but they get along fine with bird-and-baby language. The parakeet has the run of the house, and thinks cages are for cats.

"NOT very dainty, but you can eat in a hurry using your hands," says Echo. Kathy approves of this method.

KATHY listens intently to words of advice from her parakeet companion regarding merits of spinach.

ECHO rewards Kathy with a kiss for eating up all the spinach (and also gets a taste for herself).

ECHO'S very helpful. She keeps Kathy from drowning by holding her up by the hair. It's a hair-raising stunt.

West Reeling From Blows By Weather

Today was the last day of the winter season but there was no touch of spring in the air in many areas in the western half of the country.

Spring's official start is 11:14 a.m. Thursday.

Main highways and rail lines between California and Nevada were closed as another blizzard hit the Sierra Nevada. Four persons were reported dead in the storm and 125 others are snowbound.

Snow covered wide areas of North Dakota, Nebraska, southeastern Oregon, northwestern Nevada and Idaho. The Army sent in equipment to help clear huge snow drifts in southwestern North Dakota. An estimated 130 ranch homes are isolated.

Light snow fell today in the northern Great Lakes region, the plateau states and the northern Rockies. Strong northerly winds sent temperatures down over most of the Great Plains states and colder weather was in prospect for most of the north central region.

A storm in northern Illinois caused rain from the southern Great Lakes region southeastward to the Middle and South Atlantic states today.

Tornadoes hit areas in Missouri and Illinois yesterday, causing heavy damage. Three persons were reported injured.

The twisters apparently started in an area 70 miles southwest of St. Louis, causing damage near Moorehouse, Millersville and Farmington, Mo. They struck Kane, Ill., 40 miles north of St. Louis, damaging more than 20 homes. Evansville, Ill., 70 miles southeast of St. Louis, was hardest hit by the twister, with property damage estimated at $100,000. About 12 homes and a shoe factory were damaged.

Fair to partly cloudy weather was reported today in New England, the Gulf states, the Western Plains and the far Southwest.

FENDER SKIRTS STOLEN

Donald Householder of Minerva reported to police that two fender skirts were stolen before 10:30 p.m. Tuesday while his car was parked on S. Ellsworth Ave.

Already Laden With Awards, Film Colony To Give Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie industry, already knee-deep in awards, will present its final and biggest honors tomorrow night at the academy. So it's time to total up the returns on the awards season.

This year's winners of the most awards were: Picture, "A Place in the Sun"; actress, Vivien Leigh, "A Streetcar Named Desire." Marlon Brando of the same film squeaked through with the most awards in the male division, but it was a wide-open and inconclusive race.

The "award of awards" are based on the selections made by 24 different polls, magazines, critics' groups, etc. Some of the honors are dealt out for best pictures and performances, some for popularity (or unpopularity), some for the best contribution to something or other.

Miss Leigh walked away with six awards for her performance as the faded southern belle. Those selecting her were the New York and San Francisco critics, Look magazine, the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Associated Press and Film Daily polls of film critics.

June Allyson won second honors, but on the basis of popularity, not performance. She was selected the most popular actress by Modern Screen, Country Gentleman and Box Office magazines. An award apiece was given to Shelley Winters, Jan Sterling, Doris Day, Jane Wyman, Anne Baxter and Susan Hayward.

Esther Williams comes out even. The Hollywood Foreign Press Association gave her a plus as the world's most popular actress, but the Women's Press Club slipped her a minus as the most uncooperative.

Marlon Brando is a bare (that's a joke) winner among the actors. He was cited three times—by the San Francisco critics and the A.P. and Film Daily polls.

Two-time winners are John Wayne, Bing Crosby and Frederic March. Those who got single awards were John Derek, William Holden, Kirk Douglas, Richard Baschart, Arthur Kennedy, Mario Lanza, Gregory Peck and Alan Ladd.

Frank Sinatra holds down the cellar position with a minus one. Those caustic gals of the Hollywood press again.

"A Place in the Sun" is a solid winner on the awards circuit. It was honored by five citations—the National Board of Review, Screen Directors Guild, Hollywood Foreign Correspondents Association, Cleveland critics and Film Daily poll.

"Streetcar" clanged in with three awards — from the New York and San Francisco critics and the A.P. poll. "David and Bathsheba" was named best by the Christian Herald and biggest money-maker of 1951 by Variety. Single winners: "An American in Paris," "The Well," "La Ronde," "Rashomon," and "Show Boat."

Apparently the only awards not yet given are the Oscars and the Patsy. The latter is presented to the animal star of the year. Look for Rhubarb to win by a scratch.

Rural Pupils To Get New Type Grade Cards

First, second and third graders in the county's rural school system will get new type grade cards beginning in September. In addition to the A,B,C,D, and F grades now used for classroom subjects, three new grades will be added for student qualities like conduct, health, application and citizenship.

They will be: S—satisfactory; U — unsatisfactory; I — improvement.

The cards are being drawn up by Norman Bray of West Point, chairman of a committee including Harold Morrow of West, John Pickens of Knox, William Dean of Unity and Phillip Runyon of Fairview.

The committee met Tuesday afternoon with Superintendent James L. McBride and Lorin Ruff, assistant, at the Board of Education office in the Courthouse.

A too-low room will look larger and higher with a white ceiling and very light walls.

Tito, Too

IN CALMER times, Premier Tito's Communist party purge in Yugoslavia would get the attention it deserves.

If the purpose of the free world is to add every possible handicap to the authoritarian world in its race for power, Tito's purge is vital information. It reveals the Achilles heel of one-party government.

Yugoslavia's Communist party was the first unit to make a clean break with Moscow's domination of the Communist conspiracy. Its "deviation," however, did not carry it away from Marxism, but merely away from Moscowism.

As Tito explains things now, Yugoslav Communists are being weakened on the one hand by "waves of petty bourgeois ideas from the West" and on the other hand by "waves of propaganda from the East." Since the essence of his dictatorship is exclusion of all thought not subject to control by the Communist party of Yugoslavia, Tito sees only one way to maintain his strength.

He must rid the party of the deviationists within its own deviation. That is a job with no ending. The one thing which no authoritarian government can do is to close men's minds —neither Tito in Yugoslavia nor Stalin in Russia. Stalin could not even close the mind of Tito.

Eisenhower And Politics

THERE IS only one possible reason why Gen. Eisenhower's right and duty to testify on the $7.9 billion foreign aid proposal is making members of Congress skittish.

They see nothing but the possible political effect of his testimony.

Members of Congress, being politicians, rarely can see anything else.

But there is something else.

This is a proposal to spend as much money on foreign aid as the entire government of the United States cost in 1935. Among the half dozen men in the world who know most about the need for the appropriation is Gen. Eisenhower, who is organizing the military resources of the North Atlantic Organization.

If he is not eminently qualified to tell Congress how things look from where he is doing his job—in Europe, itself—then the whole idea of congressional hearings is a dud.

Despite politicians, there are more important things than politics. A proposed appropriation of $7.9 billion looks like one of them.

His Name Is Legion

TRAFFIC officials along U.S. Route 40 in the neighborhood of Springfield are tight-lipped about a "phantom" driver who has been giving truckers a bad time with a skeleton costume and fancy lighting effects.

Until recently, this had looked like nothing more serious than a grisly form of after-dark practical joking. But by the close of last week, it had begun to look like the aberrations of a hot-rodder with delusions of untouchability. The Clark county sheriff had received a note defying road patrolmen to catch the joker.

No one is amused. And no one is doing any kidding, because the phantom of U.S. Route 40 is typical of a phantom to be found on every highway in the United States. All of them strongly suggest skeletons and unusual lighting and sound effects—the flash and crash of doom.

And all have delusions of untouchability. Nothing ever is going to happen to them, they think. It is only when someone has been killed or maimed by their insanity that something happens—a sentence, a fine, a lecture from some perplexed and harassed judge wondering what ultimately can be done to outlaw avoidable death on the highways.

Nothing But Trouble

WHILE editorialists and reviewers are solemnly grappling for a toehold on the new book about President Truman, it will be surprising if some of them don't break down in a fit of giggling.

This is a very ticklish situation — that merely because an enterprising compiler named Hillman has put together a lot of bits and pieces about the occupant of the White House his book should be automatically entitled to umpsteen million dollars' worth of free publicity.

The secret is, of course, the aura of news which hovers over the White House and all its occupants as they come and go. Newspapers, the electronics industry, magazines and the book trade all exploit this gold mine to one degree or another.

William Hillman, a radio commentator, merely hit upon a particularly fortunate combination when he obtained Mr. Truman's diaries and personal papers in time for publication in 1952. It goes without saying that the publicists charged with booming the sale of his compilation have not been reticent to make the most of a good thing.

Truman's Diary

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Byrnes' Statement Also Will Become History

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT Truman and Governor Byrnes of South Carolina could both be right with respect to certain aspects of the mysterious memorandum which Mr. Truman says he read on Jan. 5, 1946, to his then Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, and which Mr. Byrnes says he never heard of before it was revealed in the diary book just now published.

This correspondent telephoned the other day to Governor Byrnes to ask his comment on the forthcoming book, "Mr. President," written by William Hillman, and the South Carolina governor said he had already been appraised by the Associated Press of the contents of the letter. Mr. Truman admits he never sent the letter but declares that he read it out loud to Mr. Byrnes.

The governor was emphatic in saying to this writer that he never heard of the letter before and in adding that, if any such letter had been read to him he would have resigned instantly as secretary of state. His reason, of course, is that the circumstances outlined in the memorandum were not of a nature to justify such an outburst by the President.

The only way he could account for it at all was to speculate that Mr. Truman was probably needled by certain persons around him unfriendly to Mr. Byrnes and a memorandum which some of those persons wanted him to write to the secretary of state was prepared. Then the President presumably rephrased some of it in longhand, intending to read it to Mr. Byrnes, yet never did, and then put it away in his file.

MR. TRUMAN, it is said, has written many personal letters which he has never mailed. Probably he has kept copies or the originals in his files as a reflection of how he felt at the time or as the equivalent of a diary entry.

So it is undoubtedly correct that Mr. Truman wrote out the letter which is reproduced in part in his handwriting in the Hillman book and in part in regular print. But it is also undoubtedly correct that Mr. Byrnes never heard such a letter read from the lips of the President.

Examining the full text of the letter as published, it is apparent that there is something rather unusual and unnatural about the phraseology. It isn't characteristic of anyone who reads a letter to another individual to refer to himself in part in the third person—as "the President"—and in part in the first person in the same letter. Nor is it customary for anyone writing a memorandum to someone else to sign it with his full name at the end instead of with his initials or his first name inasmuch as the salutation of the letter itself reads: "My Dear Jim."

LIKEWISE, the facts concerning the alleged failure of Secretary of State Byrnes to communicate with Mr. Truman while the former was in Moscow are these:

1. Communication between Mr. Byrnes and the State Department was in code and messages were sent regularly, it being assumed by Mr. Byrnes that Mr. Acheson, who was then his undersecretary, would transmit them regularly to the White House.

2. Telephone communication between Moscow and Washington was hazardous and could be listened to by the Communists. Hence is was not used by Mr. Byrnes.

3. Mail communication was too slow.

How then could Mr. Byrnes have communicated except through the State Department's code? Also Mr. Byrnes had had a lengthy talk with Mr. Truman before going to Moscow, and there had been a definite understanding as to the program and policy to be followed. Since there was no important deviation from the understanding reached before Mr. Byrnes' departure from Washington, what was there to communicate in any detail while he was engaged in the actual meetings at Moscow?

THERE IS something deeper in the episode than appears on the surface. Secretary Byrnes is given credit generally for having been the author of the "get tough" policy with Communist Russia. Mr. Truman wants it to be known that he, too, was in favor of "getting tough" as far back as Jan. 5, 1946.

There's probably another reason for the publication now of the famous memorandum. Mr. Byrnes has broken with Mr. Truman politically. The governor of South Carolina is the spearhead of the movement in the South which is determined to block a renomination for President Truman.

The controversial letter, therefore, may have been released to the author of the book for the purpose of discrediting Mr. Byrnes. The South Carolina governor asserts publicly that any statement that such a letter was ever read to him is "absolutely untrue."

This impeaches Mr. Truman's memory, if not his veracity. And thus the issue will become sharper as time goes on, and it will not heal the wounds of the Democratic party nor restore a long and devoted friendship between two public men. Politics has its thorns and its injustices and its misunderstandings. For what James F. Byrnes says about the President's charge will appear in the history books, too.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Sterility May Be Temporary

"I HAVE been married a year and a half" writes Mrs. B., "but cannot seem to have a baby. . . .One doctor has told me I have a cyst on my left ovary, and cannot get pregnant until I have an operation."

Dr. Jordan

No one knows exactly how many married couples there are who want children but are unable to have them. Judging from what is known about the subject, however, there must be hundreds of thousands of involuntary barren marriages.

Until comparatively recently, the inability to have children was always blamed on the wife. It is now known that the husband is actually responsible in a high proportion of cases.

Many possible causes for sterility exist in both men and women. Structural defects (as seems to be Mrs. B's case), disturbances in the glands of internal secretion (hormones) and absent or abnormal sperm or eggs are among the possibilities.

In many cases, the difficulty, regardless of whether it is in the husband or in the wife, can be discovered and rectified either by medical or surgical means.

In women, for example, the Rubin test which is used to discover whether the passageways by which the egg passes to the womb are open, has been of great use in diagnosing sterility caused by obstruction in the tubes.

In addition to the more definite causes for sterility in man and in women, it is now recognized that in many cases the inability to conceive is not complete, but is temporary and merely caused by some minor ailment.

A slight anemia, a vitamin deficiency, severe underweight or overweight, or other signs of being below par may be at fault. When such things are corrected, fertility may be restored in some cases and the desired child may soon be on the way.

Considerable skill and experience is necessary to explore all the possibilities for sterility. Both husband and wife must be investigated if there is a real desire to find the solution.

It cannot always be found, but in an increasing number of cases the results are turning out well. The successful outcome to problems of this kind has meant happiness to many discouraged couples.

"That New Hampshire Baby Was Rough"

Socialism And Power

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE British socialists, when they were in power, nationalized about 20 percent of the British economy. They did it openly and candidly: they told the British people with forthright honesty what they were doing and why. They called themselves socialists and made no bones about it.

For six years, the British people accepted socialism and then by a narrow margin, they turned out the Socialists and put in the Conservatives under Winston Churchill.

In this country, we have for almost 20 years been engaged in one form or another of socialization. We have called it the "New Deal," the "Fair Deal," and even "private enterprise." The theory has been that it is possible to sell the American people anything, as long as it is gaily packaged.

One of the services that has, in a measure, been socialized, is electric power. No statement was made that socialization was intended: such slogans as "TVA" or "flood control," or "rural electrification" were employed. In this article, I am not going to discuss the virtues of the effort but the methods of accomplishment.

THE ASSUMPTION of the British Socialists has been that the British people are sufficiently mature to understand a program: the assumption of the American socializers has been that the American people, being politically immature, preferring circuses to ideas, need to be fooled into doing what is good for them.

The "Flood Control Act of 1944," which is a socializing measure, we are now told, requires that municipalities, other public authorities, and cooperatives created under rural electrification acts, be given preference in the distribution of public-owned power facilities. However, we are not being told that what is meant by "public power" are those facilities built by army engineers as incidental to reservoir projects for flood control purposes.

Even the TVA was created to regulate the stream flow primarily for the purpose of promoting navigation and controlling floods. The production of electric power was to be incidental. Actually TVA is a socialized power project, competing with and tending to absorb privately-owned power. In the great debate on this subject, in which Wendell Willkie defended private power, the government denied the socializing character of TVA.

The question that arises here is the confidence of government in the people. If the government frankly admitted what it intended to do, the people might have supported the position of the government. But our politicians were taking no risks of that kind. They packaged their socialistic intentions in the beautiful colors of preserving private enterprise from the ravages of revolution.

THEY SHIFTED the costs from the erection of government-owned power to such items as flood control, navigation, etc. The comparative costs between privately-owned power projects are falsified by not including interest charges or the equivalent of federal, state and local taxes which the private company has to pay and the government project does not have to pay. The Treasury of the United States, and therefore the taxpayer, absorbs losses, if any, in the government project.

Maybe the people want it that way, but it was never explained to the people that this was a movement in the direction of socializing a great industry and putting the cost of its operation on the taxpayer. At the present time, such an effort at socialization is being made with power developed on the Niagara river, where private enterprise has been operating for 50 years.

For 30 years, the privately-owned hydroelectric companies on the Niagara River have sought to expand their facilities but were inhibited by our treaties with Canada concerning water diversion. Now that that has been arranged, the federal government has seized upon the plans of these private companies and proposes to socialize them—but without the packaging of flood control, irrigation, navigation, etc. This is a straight out-and-out plan for socialization.

-:-

HERE IS an instance concerning which the people can make a decision. Do they want socialization or not? Do they desire a duplicate government operation which can, by the elimination of tax factors, put privately-owned operations on a non-competitive basis, thus destroying the property values of an existing system of power provision? And, of course, the cost of the effort would have to be loaded on the taxpayer.

I have simplified the issue by eliminating the double-talk of the socializers.

Kitten Crop

By TRUMAN TWILL

There are important things to write about today. Panmunjom, Bonn, New Hampshire, corruption, sin, the triumph of virtue, etc.

Take kittens . . . .

Rose, the Twillery she-cat (not to be confused or involved in any way with T. Manville, the Twillery he-cat) has had her spring kittens.

Soon she will have her summer kittens. Then her fall kittens. Rose does no usually have kittens during winter, though there is no law against it. In Rosy's career, the unwritten code is above law anyway. She disobeys the written code.

But when it comes to obeying the unwritten code of instinct she is a glowing example of obedience. Whatever harsh things may be said about her when she is behaving like a lady of no reputation, she is a wonderful mother the rest of the time, with no time off for good behavior.

Readers will recall that her summer kittens last year were raised in the master bedroom. It was either going to be there, or on the mat in front of the door. Rose always wins. The spring batch is going to be raised in style too—in the utility room.

Except for one batch, which met with an unfortunate accident soon after birth, all of her offspring have distinguished themselves. A quick survey finds them in such varied fields of interest as agriculture, electric power, bituminous fuel and law. All were adopted by good families and are making good on their own.

If old T. Manville had not turned out to be a perpetually active name on the missing persons list, he would be proud of the way cattiness is being carried on in his absence.

There are only four kittens this time, a minimum allotment from nature's kitten storehouse, but they were close to half grown at birth and will be the equivalent of eight when they attain their full size.

They are the first fruits of the new year, agriculturally speaking. Kittens are the surest crop in R.F.D. There never is any shortage of cats in town, but country cats are not only tolerated. They are encouraged. In dairy barns where fluid milk is darned expensive, two dozen cats can earn their keep just by making the mice and rats feel nervous.

There is no reason why a town cat transferring residence to the country should feel lonely. Rose, a waif of the streets, cannot have had a single lonely moment. When she was not with rural companions, she was with kittens.

Take kittens. . . . . take two. They're small.

But Rose is not interested in the placement-bureau angle of her social life in R.F.D. She figures the world isn't crowded with cats so far, therefore something always happens to them.

What it is that happens is not her business.

Land

By HAL BOYLE

Small Lady Feels Its Power

NEW YORK

SHE STOOD, a small lady among many taller men, and in her heart she laughed because she knew she was taller than they were.

She was taller than they were because she had more land. And in her heart she felt that land was power, because she trusted acres more than people.

Hal Boyle

Sophistication and recognition were pretty much new to 64-year-old Susan Haughian when she came here on a visit to Manhattan Island from Montana.

But they weren't as new as she made out. Well, like any other stranger in town she kind of hung back about telling her story. You know how folks from out of town are—they can't help from believing that the resident rascals are plain waiting to ambush them and their dreams.

Well, I am a local yokel and I sure did waylay this country girl on her first sustained visit to the big city. She was fun to squire around, and this was her story:

-:-

SHE WAS ONE of 16 children born in Ireland, and naturally she settled over here in a small cozy place like Montana. It reminded her of home—it was so much bigger. You have to know the people from the ould country to understand her land hunger.

She and her man—Dan, his name was—started with 40 acres where that was an apology and a possibility.

The family did a lot of pioneering 'way out west where the wind blows free and the animals graze when they can. Susan is pretty proud of Dan for providing her with the first house in her lifetime that had hot and cold running water and the local definition of central heating.

There also were five sons and five daughters he gave her. Of course it is hard to pick among children—in Montana or your town. But I don't think Susan will ever forget her sixth child, now known also as Susan and no more favorite than some of the others today.

-:-

DAN KNEW, of course, he couldn't get to a doctor—they are a long way off in Montana, and the country isn't shrinking. Susan spread a rug on the cold floor when the pains came upon her and had a normal birth and a fine daughter all alone. Her other children waited in another room. She cut the cord of birth and blew warm breath upon the cold frame of her newborn babe.

The neighbor woman that Dan brought said with the exultation of all women:

"I knew you would do it. I knew you would."

Dan went into another room—he was a strong man— and wept.

In 1931 Dan gave up his long struggle against the weather and the land and died. He left Susan a widow with ten children and about $20,000 in debts.

"Nobody sent me a single bill," she recalls. "And, of course, they didn't really have to."

-:-

HOW ABOUT today? Well, the banker is ready to talk to Susan anytime, back there in any town near Miles City. She's got the bail money ready for her herders when they come into town after six months or so in the hills.

Oh, mabe there's 1,600 cattle or so now, and say 2,300 ewes and 1,400 lambs. But how about that spreading patch of Montana she controls?

"Well, of course, now they are looking for oil that way out there," said Susan cautiously. "You know, I just have no respect for people who fib. I don't respect them at all. I suppose maybe we own or lease about 80,000 to 100,000 acres or more. And some beyond that."

-:-

PAUSE. "But it was Dan first and then the children who are responsible for—," said Susan, earnestly, the little old lady in broken spectacles. Somebody broke them by bumping into her since she came here.

She said that, city ways aside, she had been well-treated on Manhattain Island which is considerable smaller than 100,000 acres, which is more than 150 square miles.

"Of course, the land here is more valuable," she said politely, looking around with an air of real conviction at the nearest skyscraper and added absent-mindedly:

"You know, I once saw a cow wrap her legs around her calf to keep it from freezing. I believe in nature. Take our sheep. I feel if we take care of our sheep they will take care of us."

Threat Of Communism Told At Legion Birthday Dinner

"THE SHAME of our country is that we have to sell Americanism to the people" were the key words of the thought-provoking talk given Monday evening by John Zengler, 10th District Americanism chairman, at the 33rd anniversary dinner of the Legion in the post home here.

Eighty-five members of Charles H. Carey Post and Auxiliary heard Zengler, who is also a member of the National Legion Committee on un-American Activities.

He declared that in the United States the government receives rights and privileges from the people and the people retain their rights and privileges. We must keep it that way by voting properly and educating ourselves to talk and do something about communism.

We must not only educate ourselves but in turn educate others so enough people will want to do something about communism, he added.

Fight Just Started

He warned that while we are just getting started in the fight on communistic problems, the communists have been hard at work in this country for 20 years, that we have actually helped them in their work has been proved, he stated.

In conclusion Zengler said we must accept the challenge of today and keep intact and preserve the rights given us by our forefathers.

Comd. Arfman Presided

Commander Herbert Arfman presided at the meeting and presented citations of merit to the following people: Chester Kridler, John Herman, Jr., John Morrow, Jr., Leon Davis, Arch Bricker, William Schaeffer, John Litty and Anthony Masinando.

Mrs. Chester Kridler presented Commander Arfman with a huge birthday cake, beautifully decorated with Legion colors, blue and gold, in celebration of the 32nd anniversary of the local post.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Kridler has been selected counselor at the Girl's State scheduled for Columbus in June.

Other Guests

Guests at the meeting besides Mr. and Mrs. Zengler were Mr. and Mrs. George Rutledge, 10th District commander from New Philadelphia; Vice Commander and Mrs. Clifford Belnap of Sherrodesville; County Commander and Mrs. Jack England of Lisbon; Clarence Wetzel, state representative; Myron Griffith of Greenford, charter member; Mrs. Wilbur Henry of Washington, Pa., and Mayor and Mrs. Harry Vincent.

Mrs. Steve Odoran played for Miss Dorothy Pozniko who entertained vocally. Mrs. Odoran also played for group singing. The next meeting of the Legion is April 7. The Legion Auxiliary will be hostess to the County Council meeting next Monday.

4 Girl Scout Troops Attend Communion

FOUR Girl Scout troops of St. Paul's Catholic Church, their leaders and troop committee members, numbering more than 100, attended mass and Holy Communion services Sunday morning as a part of the observance of Girl Scout Week. Rev. Fr. Edward Varble congratulated the Scouts on their 40th anniversary.

Following the services, the group met for breakfast in the Knights of Columbus Hall. The tables were arrayed in a St. Patrick Day theme. Pictures were taken to commemorate the event and songs were sung.

Members of the troop committee, Mrs. Ken Pinkerton, Mrs. Paul Harrington, Mrs. Mary Bryan and Mrs. Allene Waggoner, arranged the breakfast.

Flag bearers at the services in the church included: Troop 2, Sandra Centofanti, Patty Judge and Mary Louise Bryan with troop leaders, Mrs. William Chaplow, Mrs. Wilford Smith and Mrs. William Blount.

Troop 5, Jackie Julian, Helen Yeager, Joan Colgan, Deanne Lavelle and Margaret and Mary Potts with Mrs. William Drakulich, leader.

Troop 14, Wilma Apple, Joyce Engelmeier and Virginia Ross with Miss Mary Catherine Donahue and Mrs. James Minamyer, leaders; and Troop 21, Valyrie Jean Ciotti, Susan Fisher and Eileen Mauro with Mrs. Estelle White, leaders.

Donna Arnold Hostess To Junior Music Club

The Junior Music Study Club met at the home of Donna Arnold Monday evening. Jerry Van Hovel, a former member, and Mary Mercer were guests at the meeting.

John Hively gave a thumbnail sketch of Benny Goodman; Carol McQuilkin of Rene LeRoy; Pat Schmidt of Jimmy Dorsey and Nancy Bailey of Sam Krauss.

An orchestra composed of Bob and Wendall Dunn, Carol McQuilkin, Jerry VanHovel, Bruce Snyder, Carole Coy, Mary Mercer and Dale Horton, conducted by Mrs. W. G. Hunston, also provided entertainment.

Refreshments were served. The club is planning a benefit sale March 22. The next meeting will be at the home of Kay Ferrall on the Ellsworth Rd. March 31.

Travelers Club Hears Talk On Three Cities

An interesting meeting of the Travelers Club was held Tuesday afternoon in the library assembly room with Mrs. Gail Roose presiding.

Mrs. John Works gave an excellent talk on "Buffalo, Niagara and Vicinity." She stated that Buffalo is the second largest city in New York state and is a shipping port and railroad center. The city of Niagara came into being because of the falls and is a great place for sightseers.

The parks, art museum and other places of interest in Cleveland were discussed in the well-written paper prepared by Mrs. William Ross and presented by Mrs. Joseph Bogar.

Mrs. Maurice Sandrock gave a very good account of the life of J. C. Penney of the Penny Co. chain stores. The next meeting will be March 25 when an old-fashioned picnic will be enjoyed at 12:45.

Hints For Glamour Given Mothers Club

Mrs. Marge Aldrich of East Palestine gave a talk on "Glamour" at the Progressive Mothers Club meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Dudley Ashead on N. Ellsworth Ave.

Some of the things Mrs. Aldrich stressed in her talk were trends in fashions, new silhouettes, fabrics, accessories, lingerie and the versatility of the coat dress.

Roll call was answered by naming "Tricks in Good Grooming." Mrs. Walter Gray, vice president, was in charge of the meeting. Assisting Mrs. Ashead with the lunch were Mrs. Carroll Greene and Mrs. Francis Horning The April 1 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. V. Smith on N. Ellsworth Ave.

Philathea Class Meets At Home Of Mrs. Kelly

The Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Charles Kelly with Mrs. Hazen Kelly as associate hostess. The devotions were led by Mrs. James McCullum. Miss Martha Park presided at the business meeting.

Table appointments for the refreshments were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. William Park told of her recent trip into Texas and Mexico.

The next meeting will be held by Mrs. R. J. Hunter of W. Union on April 15.

Lost 40 Lbs. Rennel Did It Too—It Really Works

"I can really praise Rennel Concentrate for what it has done for me," writes Celia M. Grubb, Richwood, Ohio. "I am 51 years of age, weighed 165 lbs. and being only 5 ft. tall the doctor advised me to lose some weight. Since taking Rennel I have lost 40 lbs., and I feel fine. I can really sleep like a baby now for my health is much improved. Regularity is no longer a problem with me, and my arthritis in my hands and ankles has disappeared. I do my own house work with pleasure now, and I never knew a hungry moment while losing this weight."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Spoon Lure Began As A Teaspoon

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

We sat up through the wee hours this morning listening to a fellow talk about a new lure he's putting on the market.

It's a spoon whose shape provides a high-lift hydrafoil, allowing for maximum motion through any speed range. Because of its calculated instability under induced spin, it breaks rotation from one direction to the other.

A spoon, in case you forget, is a metal blade looking much like the business end of a sawed-off teaspoon. Fish grab a spoon under the impression that they are grabbing a smaller fish who's suffering from a hangover or a broken landing gear as he wobbles under the cannibal's nose.

Getting just the right wobble is not simple these days—because fish and fishermen demand more realism in their baits. Modern lure makers spend months calculating the relation of weight to mass in thousands of curvatures before marketing a finished product.

Spoons are the oldest fishing lures in the world. The probable date of their origin is about 3000 B.C. The ancient Romans used polished clam shells equipped with various types of metal and stone hooks, later using crudely carved metal discs.

THE PROGRESS of spoon design never was along well-defined lines. It wasn't until 1834 that an American angler really did something to qualify for the title of "spoon inventor."

The student was one Julio T. Buel, a man of unlimited and extravagant imagination. Julio selected pure silver for his artificials, as he reasoned that this was the nearest to the color of a fish's belly. But this is getting ahead of the story.

Around 1819, young Julio tossed some white pebbles in a brook as kids will, but the Vermont youngster noticed trout rising to them. The seed of invention was sown. While eating his lunch on a lake one day, he accidentally dropped a teaspoon overboard. As the spoon sank, he noticed the peculiar twists and turns it made in the water.

JULIO HAD been experimenting on bits of bright tin with a hook soldered aft, which revolved in the water when retrieved, but the convex face was a new idea.

Young Julio's first effort was in Lake Bomoseen, the lure—an old brass teaspoon on which he had soldered a hook. The line was tied to the broken handle end. His catch was phenomenal. Nobody reported what he caught, but we can assume the kid knocked himself out, as he always did things in a big way.

Being a perfectionist, Julio spent several years in working over the finest details of proper spoon design. He applied for, and received, the first patent for trolling baits in 1834. The result was that the manufacture of spoons was begun by him in 1848 at Whitehall, New York. To this day Buel spoons are still taking fish.

Danny Nardico, Dick Wagner Fight Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hard-punching Danny Nardico and Dick Wagner slug it out in the arena tonight, with possibly millions watching from their living rooms.

In the first professional boxing card here since December, the 10-round light heavyweight feature will be televised everywhere except in the Cleveland district.

As usual, Matchmaker Larry Atkins has blacked out local TV fans in hopes of improving the gate.

The experts pick Nardico. So does Nardico.

"What I'd like," he says, "is to win this one big, like they say, and then come back here in April for another shot at Harry Matthews or maybe a second crack at Robert Villemain."

Nardico, a Painesville boy now fighting out of Tampa, Fla., lost to Matthews here and more recently to Villemain in New York.

WAGNER FEELS the same way about fighting Matthews or Villemain.

"But what I'm thinking about mostly," said Dick, "is whether I'll be as strong as I'm expected to be with nine months rest behind me. It's a fact that I've never felt better."

Atkins says tonight's fighters are all youngsters, and points out that Wagner, at 25, is the "old man" of the crowd.

The other two 10-round affairs will feature Middleweights Ronnie Delaney of Akron and Eddie Smith of Gary, Ind. and light heavyweights Lalu Sabotin of Warren and Billy Hatcher of Huntington, W. Va.

Delaney has lost only two out of 40 fights, and Smith is a former Golden Gloves star.

Hatcher replaced Tiffin's Jerry Hemminger recently. Atkins says Hemminger decided he wanted no part of Sabotin.

Cleveland Loses 2nd Game, 2-1

Simpson Hits Twice; Others Collect Two

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Unless some of the Cleveland Indians start perking up at the plate, General Manager Hank Greenberg will have money worries.

Except for Harry Simpson, students of his batting school at the start of the season just haven't been hitting consistently. That goes for Larry Doby, (who played hooky), Al Rosen and Ray Boone.

Hank said if his pupils didn't raise their collective batting average 20 points, he would pay $1,000 out of his own pocket to the Cleveland Community fund.

Doby, Rosen and Boone couldn't get a hit off White Sox pitchers Bill Kennedy and Howie Judson yesterday. The team as a whole has collected only 16 hits in the last three games.

Simpson, who hit two for four yesterday, got half of Cleveland's hits.

Strangely, Simpson was the worst student in school. Now he is tied with Outfielder Jim Fridley for the club hitting lead with 11 hits in 25 times at bat.

-:-

SIMPSON'S SINGLE to center in the fifth yesterday scored Fridley from second and that run—unearned at that — was all Cleveland got in losing, 2 to 1. Fridley reached second on his bunt that Catcher Bud Sheely grabbed and threw into right field.

The Indians again were given fine pitching, this time by George Zuverink, Bob Kerrigan and Ray Narleski. They allowed only four hits, too, but Chico Carrasquel scored from first on Nelson Fox's fly, misjudged by Doby. It went for a two-base hit.

With Narleski pitching, Sheely's single, a wild pitch and a single by Hector Rodriguaz gave Chicago the winning run.

THREE WEEKS AGO, Fridley looked bad swinging at one of Bob Lemon's curves. Catcher Birdie Tebbetts sang out Ring Lardner's wisecrack: "Dear Ma, They're beginning to throw the jug (curve). I'll be home soon." . . . Birdie must have been kidding. Manager Al Lopez says: "Jim has a good chance to be our right fielder on opening day."

Quincy Troupe, No. 3 catcher, won the National AAU boxing title in 1938 and the St. Louis Golden Gloves heavyweight championship the same year. As a ball player, Lopez says: "I like him more every day." . . . Bob Feller will make his second start of the season today, against the Pittsburgh Pirates here. . . Pete Reiser has the virus . . . Lopez thinks the St. Louis Browns hace improved—"They're faster. More team speed."

Columbiana County League Meeting Draws Seven Teams

Seven teams—Salem, East Liverpool, Lisbon, Negley, New Waterford, Springfield, and East Palestine—were represented at a meeting of the Columbiana County Semi-Professional Baseball League last Sunday afternoon in Lisbon's city hall.

The teams are organizing plans for the coming season which hay possibly have an eight-team league. East Palestine may enter league competition this season and another team may also see action against the other six squads, who formed the league last season.

The Salem Merchants were represented by five Salem men, Chester Brautigam, Gale Dougherty, Ed Bloor, E. W. Burcaw and Dick Maurer.

There will be a meeting of all persons interested in playing with the Merchants and those wishing to back the team at 2:30 Sunday afternoon in the Memorial Building, announced Dougherty, president of the team.

Election of officers will also be held at the meeting. The team will soon open a project to collect money for insurance of the players and the payment of umpires for the season.

258 Attend Booster Banquet; Votaw Named '52-53 Captain

Duley Moore, coach of the Duquesne University basketball team, made a hit with some 258 persons who attended the annual Salem Boosters Club basketball banquet last night at the Memorial Building.

The Duquesne mentor gave an inspiring talk following a swiss steak dinner and entertainment by the Hungry Six, a group of classy high school musicians.

Moore spoke of his current Dukes in relation with the NIT where they played last week. He also commented on his players as to their ways of playing and also his way of coaching certain individuals.

The Duke coach explained the Duquesne athletic program and defended the programs of many universities, adding that the players involved in the recent basketball scandal were just a few among the millions of college players throughout the nation.

Basketball is becoming a "big man's game," the Booster speaker related, and those players who are small must be exceptionally good to make a college squad. Moore said there is much competition around the 6' height and only the better players make the grade.

Switching his address to the players themselves, Moore explained that hard work and training rules were the two most essential parts of playing basketball or any other sport. In closing he said he hoped the boys would profit by their mistakes and also through the efforts of their coaches and parents.

Prior to Moore's address, Coaches John Cabas, Chet Tetlow and Kenneth Jacobs introduced their varsity, reserve and freshmen cagers, respectively Cabas awarded gold basketballs to the six graduating seniors — Jerry Ball, Bill Brelih, Benny Roelen, George Alek, Wayne Harris, and Don Fife.

The Salem mentor also announced that Eddie Votaw, regular through the past season, has been chosen to captain the 1952-53 team. The voting was almost unanimous, Votaw's vote being the only unlike ballot.

Guests at the banquet were the basketball teams, the Salem High School band, Salem High School's coaching staff, and the reserve cheerleaders. Henry Reese served as toastmaster for the annual banquet.

Hull Top Kegler In SBA Tournament

Bill Hull, veteran kegler of the Salem Diner of the Classic League, turned in an outstanding performance in the individual events of the Salem Bowling Association tournament just concluded at the Salem Bowling Center.

Hull won trophies in the All-Events, no handicap event with a score of 1745 and in the all-events with handicap with 1916 pins. Te also captured awards in the all-events and doubles events.

Henry Meissner captured the singles championship with a 694 series including his handicap. Don Krauss won the ABC award in the singles with 628 actual pins and Glen Oesch shared honors with Hull in the actual pin doubles award with 1137.

The Guep-Emerick team of Columbiana captured the doubles title during the tourney with 1258 pins.

Seniors Dominate Class B All-Ohio Basketball Team

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS (AP)—Five seniors, all sensational scorers and all towering over the six-foot mark, were named today to the Associated Press 1952 All-Ohio Class B high school basketball team.

They were winnowed from among 16,000 youngsters who appeared on the squads of the 865 Class B schools, on the basis of ballots submitted by hundreds of coaches, sports editors and game officials.

The first stringers average better than 6-3 in height, and they piled up an astounding 2401 points for an average of 113 per game. But scoring ability alone wasn't enough to win a spot on the "varsity," for the state was filled with point-getters this year — some of whom bettered the marks of the chosen few.

Defensive ability, leadership, competitive spirit, play-making and several other attributes were taken into consideration before the "3000-to-1" shots were placed on basketball's throne.

A dozen of the kids named to the top three All-Ohio teams and the honorable mention list will appear this week in the state tournament here only North Lima failing to get recognition on the all-star squad.

A total of 857 Class B teams have been eliminated in tournament play, and much of the individual talent has gone with them—leaving the well-rounded quintets to fight it out for the championship.

Only one player still in the tournament, Chuck McGuire of Gibsonburg, made the first team. He was joined at forward by Bremen's Paul Hockman who scored 1771 point, in his four-year scholastic career.

At center is Chesapeake's Jerry Gillen, a 16-year-old 6' 4" senior and top-flight student, who scored 506 points in 20 games. The guards are Bob Jacoby, 6-5, of Blanchester, and Dick Garrison of Corning. The latter's all-around play-making ability moved him around his high-scoring teammate, Jerry Roof, who dropped to the honorable mention list this season after making the third string a year ago.

Calder Cup Hockey Teams Open Playoffs

(Associated Press)

The American Hockey League, known for its wide-open style of play during the regular season, plays a more cautious game during the lucrative Calder Cup playoffs.

Four of the six teams which qualified for the playoffs began battling for the cup last night and both games were decided in "sudden death" overtime.

The Cincinnati Mohawks defeated the Buffalo Bisons, 2-1, in the opener of their best of five series while the Pittsburgh Hornets nipped the Hershey Bears, 2-1, in the first of their best of seven set.

Buffalo, which finished third in the Eastern Division, enjoyed a 1-0 lead going into the third period. With a minute and 45 seconds to go Mohawk Coach Clint Smith pulled goalie Paul Bibeault out of the nets and sent six forwards on the ice.

The move paid off in 14 seconds as Nick Mickoski rammed home a 15-foot shot from a face off to send the game into overtime.

Both teams failed to score during the first ten minute overtime period. Chick Webster then broke it up in the "sudden death" second overtime session when he scored, ending the game at 2-1.

Pentagon Mulls Over Ike's Plans

Will Have To Name His NATO Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is almost as anxious as the politicians over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's plans.

If and when he returns home, the Pentagon will have to recommend a successor as supreme commander of allied powers in Europe and also make other changes in the NATO command.

Washington talk today puts heavy emphasis on the possibility of Gen. Matthew Ridgway, United Nations commander in the Far East, succeeding to any vacancy that may develop in the top European command.

But by no means ruled out are several other American generals, including Eisenhower's chief deputy, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

Ridgway's prominent position among those speculated on as an Eisenhower successor appears based on two primary factors: A brilliant record in World War II as a field commander plus the experience gained since he became commander last summer of the U.N. forces fighting the Communists in Korea.

His Far Eastern service also has provided him, say his advocates, with the seasoning needed in the political part of a dual military-political assignment like the European post.

Gruenther, a close personal friend of Eisenhower, has a reputation as a far-sighted planner and strategist. He has been called the "brains of the Army." But Gruenther's prospects for succeeding to the European command are handicapped by the fact he has never held a major field command, although he had a big hand in plotting strategy during World War I as a chief of staff.

For this reason, there was some speculation that Gruenther eventually might be transferred from the NATO organization preparatory to grooming him for bigger assignments elsewhere. One idea mentioned is that Gruenther may be given command of an army as a start toward eventual advancement to the position of army chief of staff..

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is described as an unlikely party to any change in the European command in the immediate future.

President Truman, it is noted, wanted him so badly in his present job that he reappointed Bradley for a second term as chairman.

Truman Blocked Loan, Iran's Mossadegh Says

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has accused President Truman of blocking U. S. loans to Iran because the Iranians would not agree to British terms for settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

Mossadegh in a letter read here last night said he applied for a U. S. loan last fall, while visiting Washington, to ease Iran's financial difficulties caused by loss of oil revenues following nationalization of the properties of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Truman, the premier said, finally told him he could not justify such a loan before the U. S. Senate and people. The Export-Import Bank also refused to help Iran, he continued.

RUSH—Sold Out!

A leading Michigan drug chain wires: "PLEASE SHIP TODAY SURE, 360 DOZEN HOPE MINERAL TABLETS." Other druggists wire: "RUSH 24 DOZEN. SOLD OUT, LOSING SALES." SHIP IMMEDIATELY 60 DOZEN HOPE MINERAL TABLETS. CAN'T KEEP IT IN STOCK." These are just a few of the wires we receive continuously from all over the country. Druggists tell us they have never sold anything like HOPE MINERAL TABLETS.

Stop Suffering

NO MATTER HOW LONG YOU HAVE SUFFERED, or what drugs you have put in your body, you can now hope for MIRACULOUS RELIEF with natural HOPE MINERAL TABLETS. In just a few days, you will see results. The black poisonous waste will begin to leave your body and you will feel a wondrous change. Mother Nature has blended traces of FIFTEEN DIFFERENT MINERALS in Hope Mineral. Perhaps your body is craving just one of these to start your lazy organs working again.

Nature Heals

More and more doctors are turning back to nature for cures. Penicillin was discovered in a natural mold growth; raw onion will kill bacteria; and, a new substitute for blood plasma has been found in Okra Plants. NATURE PROVIDES! HOPE MINERALS come from the earth, manufactured in nature's own laboratory. There is absolutely NO ALCOHOL in Hope Mineral. It will not give you that false lift which wears off when the alcohol wears off.

The intestine i sthe most important organ in your body—and it is also the most abused. When you Feel and Look Old Before Your Time, lose that sparkle and feel dead tired, maybe your body is craving something.

New Life

Not only will you FEEL results with HOPE MINERAL, but you will SEE the results. Watch your elimination a few days after using HOPE MINERAL. You will see the waste—BLACK AS NIGHT—begin to leave your body and you will realize the minerals are doing their work. The years will begin to slip away and you will want to tell your friends and all the world about these wonderful minerals.

SOMETIMES we suffer so long, we forget what it is to be healthy. THE DOOR TO HEALTH is open to you. When you are nervous, dull, tired, lack ambition and sparkle, have dizzy spells, when your powers are weakened and life seems to have no meaning—try HOPE MINERAL.

Guaranteed

Don't Suffer Another Day. We urge you to try a bottle of HOPE MINERAL TABLETS. Use it and if you are not wonderfully satisfied, we will gladly refund your money.

Designs for Living

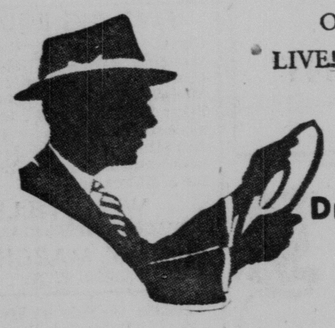

When you are driving along a modern highway, enjoying a smooth ride, give a thought to the traffic engineers who designed such roads for your safety.

Overhead crossings and underpasses, cloverleafs, traffic circles and smoothly graded curves all are modern examples of highway designs that have prevented countless accidents and saved many lives.

Remember that good traffic engineering is real economy. It builds safety into streets and highways, and it need not be costly.

Often a few dollars wisely expended by a competent engineer can drastically reduce a serious death and injury toll—eliminate traffic congestion. Warnings, markings, safe speed limits and danger zones tell you how to drive with safety. The rest is up to you.

Our great new highways are Designs for Living. Play fair, use them safely—and LIVE!

Drive As Though Your Life Depends On It -- IT DOES!

Truman Chops, Taft Rasps, Says Speech Expert

KEFAUVER: Stop fumbling. Too impassive. Move around. Make some gestures. Strive for warmth.

TRUMAN: Stop "wood-chopping" with arms. Read without so many mistakes. Inflexion has monotonous up-and-down-stairs style.

TAFT: Good volume and dynamics; unattractive, raspy voice. Practice sounding less impatient.

MacARTHUR: Good use of rhetoric. Stop jutting jaw. Tendency toward master-of-all impression.

EISENHOWER: Persuasive voice, slightly too crisp. Good reader. Too calm. Practice effective gestures.

THE PRESIDENTIAL nomination prospects above aren't exactly modern Demostheneses, you gather from criticism of their speaking powers by Prof. George B. Simon, public speaking authority of Fenn college, Cleveland. His remarks are shown with pictures of the men toward whom they are directed. He says further, "I heard Truman make 13 mistakes in one short speech. Taft lacks courtesy when excited . . . During question periods he is apt to give speeches instead of answers." Of MacArthur, "He becomes too dramatic at times, as with 'Old soldiers never die, they just fade away.' He didn't fade away. If he had, his talk might have rivaled Lincoln's Gettysburg address."

Pleasant Valley O.E.S. Convenes

HANOVERTON — Pleasant Valley Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, held their regular meeting Thursday. Exemplification of initiatory work was held with Worthy Patron George Walton presiding.

Inspection date was announced by Doris Hull, newly elected worthy matron. Lunch was served in the dining room by Denehda Coleman and her committee.

Sixteen members were present when the Ladies Aid of the Christian Church met in the church recently for their annual dinner.

The business meeting and devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Alma Wilson and the song, "Somebody Did a Golden Deed" was sung by Mrs. Gertrude Snyder and Mrs. Elizabeth Trough.

Plans were completed for the St. Patrick Day tea, and for spring house cleaning in the church.

PILES — GET RELIEF NOW!

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to fast relief from itching, smarting piles. They use a delightful, cooling, soothing, astringent formula — Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." At all druggists. Be delighted or money back.

Thieves Rob Home Of $25,000 In Cash

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 17-year-old girl—a burglar's pistol held at her head—carried on a seemingly casual telephone conversation last night while she and her family were robbed of $25,000 at their suburban St. Louis home.

The girl was Eldora Roehl, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roehl of Frontenac, who together with her parents and a sister, Elizabeth, 15, was terrorized by three masked men who leisurely ransacked the dwelling.

The telephone episode occurred shortly after the burglars gained entrance to the home by knocking at the back door. The call was from a friend and Eldora was forced to carry on a conversation after one of the men threatened to shoot if she disclosed their presence.

Approimately $20,000 of loot was in cash, most of it representing a coin collection.

The four members of the family later were imprisoned in a basement closet for nearly two hours before Roehl managed to pry some boards off and escape.

GE's New Jet Center At Lockland Dedicated

LOCKLAND, Ohio (AP) — General Electric Co. dedicated a new jet center here today and opened parts of the closely guarded plant to public inspection for the first time.

Still kept secret, however, were sections of the plants serving as headquarters for a project to develop an airplane engine powered with atomic energy.

General Electric contracted with the air force and the atomic energy commission last year to develop a nuclear power-plant for an airplane to be built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp.

Slayer's Death Penalty Changed To Life Term

WEST UNION (AP) — Mason Farmer, 26, of Pike County stood convicted today for a second time of first degree murder but the penalty this time will be life imprisonment instead of death.

Farmer was convicted more than a year ago of the slaying of Oliver Stayner of Peebles. The jury did not recommend mercy and he faced the death sentence until the Ohio Supreme Court ordered a retrial.

The second trial ended in Adams County Common Pleas Court last night with another conviction. That time, however, the jury recommended mercy, which means a life term.

The original conviction was reversed on the grounds the state had failed to prove intent to kill.

Just A Thought
You remember last winter—car prices tumbled. You remember last summer—we all do (wish it were summer now) — car prices jumped $300. Our suggestion is buy now while these savings are in effect. In our years as a car dealer we have never seen prices do anything but go up as spring approaches. Be wise, play the part of a Scotchman, buy now while a truly great saving may be had.

Sutton May Keep Silent At Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie (The Actor) Sutton may make his current role, as defendant in a 1950 bank robbery trial, strictly one of silence. His attorney aints he may not testify.

And, despite a court ruling, it appears that he will have to share top billing with the ghost of the young man who identified him for police—slain Arnold Schuster.

Sutton and Thomas Kling, 45, both notorious bank robbers and jail breakers, went on trial yesterday in a $64,000 holdup of a branch of the Manufacturers Trust Company in the Borough of Queens.

Queens County Judge Peter T. Farrell ruled the Schuster slaying has "absolutely no connection" with the defendants and "is not an issue." But the murder crept into the proceedings a number of times.

The judge made the ruling while defense attorneys were questioning prospective jurors, one of whom was excused when he mentioned the Schuster slaying.

Lisbon VFW Women Elect New Officers

LISBON — Mrs. Patricia McLaughlin was elected president of the Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 Tuesday night, succeeding Mrs. Velma Stewart of near Leetonia.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Elizabeth Polite, senior vice president; Mrs. Mildred Ieropolia, junior vice president; Mrs. Mildred Hussar of Rogers, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret Borghi, chaplain; Mrs. Betty Lipe, condustress, and Miss Laura McKee, guard.

Mrs. Marjory Rodi was elected trustee for a three-year term. Elected delegates to a district meeting at Coshocton in April were: Mrs. Esther Perkins, Mrs. Ann Reynolds and Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Lipe is alternate. Installation will be held April 1.

Summer Road Repairs Planned At Meeting

LISBON — Trustees of West, Hanover, Center, Elkrun and Middleton townships met today at the Courthouse with county commissioners and County Engineer Charles O. Snyder to plan summer road repairs.

Commissioners met Monday with northern townships and have a date Friday with southern township representatives.

Servicemen Rush To Wed Jap Brides

TOKYO (AP) — Hundreds of American servicemen married Japanese girls today—just in time to beat the deadline for taking their petite brides home to the United States.

James B. Pilcher, U. S. consul general, estimated the last-day rush of civil ceremonies at six consular offices increased the number of servicemen legally married to Japanese to about 8,000.

An accurate count will not be available for days.

Servicemen had to be married by 2 p.m. today (midnight Tuesday, Salem time) to benefit from a law which enables them to take their oriental brides to the U. S.

A few didn't make it.

Chizuko Fukimoto, a nicely dressed plain looking woman, waited at the front door of the Tokyo consulate until 2:15 p.m. for her sweetheart to arrive from Korea. He never got there.

Ninety-five soldiers, sailors and marines were married today at the Tokyo consulate.

Medical Technologist Training Program Set

Mount Union College is now affiliated with the Alliance City Hospital, Mercy Hospital and Aultman Hospital, both of Canton, for a training program for medical technologists.

In announcing the new program, College Dean William C. Wesley said it go into effect with the start of the summer session.

Two separate curriculums of study will be added to complete the program, the arrangements for which were recently completed. One course, named the "Three Year Non-Degree Course," finds the student spending two years with the college and one at the hospital he chooses working in the labratory. After completing the three years, the student takes a test prepared by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and if he passes, is certified as a labratory technician.

The second course is called the "Four Year Degree Program" and finds the student spending three years and one 10-week summer session at the college and then one full year at the hospital laboratory. After taking the test, the student is certified if he passes it and also receives a Bachelor of Science degree from Mount Union.

The program will be coordinated through Wesley's office with the three laboratory heads of the hospitals, Dr. A. P. Faulkenstein of Alliance City, Dr. Donald Henderson of Aultman Hospital and Dr. Max Shawecker of Mercy Hospital.

MANACLED hand and foot and with a chain around his waist, bank robber John R. Bayless, 37, ex-Alcatraz, who robbed a Los Angeles bank of $19,682 and was captured when he left a plane in New York, is returned to Los Angeles. The chains lead to another prisoner with whom Bayless left the train.

Obituary

W. S. Murdock

KENSINGTON — W. S. Murdock, 84, died at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harrison Marietta, near here. He was ill three days.

For the past 50 years he had lived in this vicinity and was a member of Winona Methodist Church. He was born in Cadiz, July 9, 1867.

Survivors beside Mrs. Marietta include another daughter, Mrs. Clarence Nyswanger of Clarksville, Pa., one brother, John, of St. Clairsville, 10 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, Ella Mae Murdock.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. at the Maple Funeral home with Rev. Thomas Hammerton of Winona officiating. Friends may call Thursday afternoon and evening at the funeral home. Burial will be in Olivebranch Cemetery, Harrisville, O.

Ruben T. Cord

LISBON — Ruben T. Cord, 79, father of Rev. Theodore Cord, who was minister of the Christian Church here from 1940-48, died at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Rev. Cord's home at Stow.

He was ill several months. Born Nov. 16, 1872, in Fleming County, Ky., he came to Ohio from Connersville, Ind., in 1939. He was a member of the Christian Church.

Besides Rev. Cord with whom he lived, he is survived by another son, Justin Cord of Indianapolis and five grandchildren.

Services will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Eels-Leggett Funeral Home by Rev. Alvin Sizemore of the Steubenville Christian Church. Burial will be in Dale Cemetery at Connersville. Friends may call Thursday afternoon at the funeral home.

Enterprise Employes Vote AFL Affiliation

COLUMBIANA—Employees of the Enterprise Co., here, a subsidiary of the William J. Stamets Co., of Pittsburgh, voted yesterday afternoon by a close margin to form a union affiliated with the AFL.

Less than three-fourths of the 122 employees voted, some having been absent. The vote was 44-37 in favor of organizing as a member of the International Assoiation of Machinists (AFL). A. G. Stundor of New Castle is the organizer.

In the nearly 75 years of its history the Enterprise Co., employees never have had a union and have never had any labor disputes.

Ohio Bans Supplying Gamblers Race News

COLUMBUS (AP)—The State Utilities Commission today ordered the Western Union Telegraph Co. not to serve anyone who would use its wires in gambling operations.

The order was unopposed by Western Union, which had been called in to show why it should not be ordered to cut off service to Continental Press of Cleveland and other outfits supplying horse race news to bookies.

Polish Up Lost Badge For Returning Deputy

LISBON — A Columbiana County deputy sheriff's badge, found Thursday in the Union Station at Kansas City, is on its way C.O.D. to the Courthouse, 1,000 miles ahead of the owner.

The Kansas City baggageman who received the badge from a finder, wrote to Lisbon for directions. The boys on duty answered "Send it here."

They want to have it spit-and-polish bright for Russell Van Fossan who with Sheriff Howard J. Clark left last Wednesday for the west coast to return a prisoner.

Presumably, they're sharing the sheriff's badge as they drive back from Los Angeles with Ralph Neopolitan, 21, of Struthers, who'll stand trial on a larceny indictment.

The officers went out by train but are using Neopolitan's car for the eastward trip. They're due back this weekend.

Truman Withdrawal Puzzles Democrats

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—President Truma'ns sudden withdrawal from the California presidential primary left state Democratic leaders puzzling today over which way to turn.

Should they put up a favorite son candidate to protect California's 68 convention votes for the pro-Truman faction? Switch allegiance to Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee or some other name Democrat? Or not do anything—and in effect concede the big delegation to Kefauver?

The Truman campaign committee has been summoned here tomorrow to try to answer those questions. Meantime, members declined to even guess what will happen.

Kefauver supporters were elated. He is the only Democratic candidate in California's June 3 primary.

The state's Democratic high command, almost solidly behind Truman, was left with a slate of delegates and campaign forces organized—but no candidate. It had gone ahead without any word as to whether the President would seek reelection.

Many Democrats doubted that the Trumanites would hand California's 68 convention votes to Kefauver by default. One or two mentioned Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as a possibility. Most leaned toward a favorite son candidate.

Steel Crisis Sends Most Stocks Down

NEW YORK (INS)—The stock market lost ground today under nervous selling influenced by the growing pessimism over the prospects for a peaceful solution to the steel wage controversy.

The desire to clinch profits in some of the recent fast steppers on the upside caused a few issues to fall back rather sharply. However, losses for the most part, were held to minor fractions.

Among the more vulnerable stocks were Union Oil of California which dipped 1½ points and Panhandle Eastern Pipeline,, also down 1½. Fractional losses were the rule in such key stocks as U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler and Kennecott.

Construction To Boom In 1952

Materials, Labor Plentiful Locally

Area Forecast In Tune With Rest Of Nation

Despite the curbs imposed on various types of construction by the funneling of vital materials into the U. S. war effort, 1952 promises to be another boom year in the Salem district building industry.

A survey of this area's contractors revealed that the building activity for the first two months of this year is keeping pace with the construction peaks recorded during similar months of the previous several years.

Labor Supply Good

Skilled labor is plentiful in this immediate region and, although some shortages of materials do exist, the condition is not acute and is expected to improve as time goes by. Lumber and other non-controlled materials are in more than ample supply.

Nor is this situation characteristic only of the Salem area. U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics indicate that a full scale housing program is sweeping the nation despite government controls.

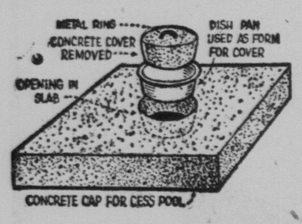

The bureau estimates that 77,000 new homes and apartments were put into construction last month. That is 13 per cent more than the 68,000 dwellings counted in January.

Nationally it is expected that as many as 900,000 new homes will be built this year, or about 75 to 80 per cent as many as in 1951.

Last year 232 building permits were issued in Salem, covering construction to the ambount of $781,570. Most of the local '51 activity was limited to the construction of homes and garages or repair work. Commercial and industrial construction was severely retarded by the restrictions placed upon it by the National Production Authority.

During the past year 52 homes were built or begun here at an aggregate cost of $488,300. The average price per dwelling was $9,288. In 1950 the total cost of the 60 new homes constructed was $570,100, with an average per unit of $9,501.

Making A Concrete Lid

An old dishpan with slanting sides makes a good form for a concrete cap over a cesspool or catch basin.

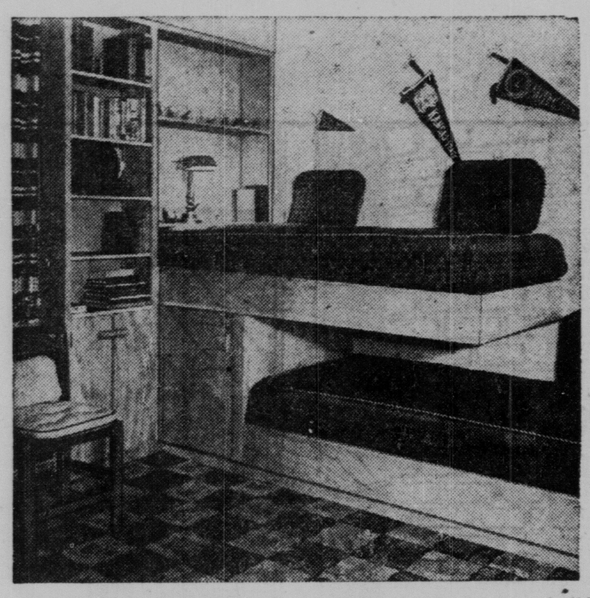

Grease or wax the pan thoroughly inside and out. Set it in the center of the form for the cover slab. Fill it with concrete when pouring the slab and set a heavy steel ring in the center.

When the concrete has cured lift out the lid and the pan. The lid will fit snugly back into place because of the taper formed by the slanting sides of the pan.

CHILDRENS COLORS

Children of school age prefer blue over red, according to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Yellow runs third in their favor and green is preferred over white.

How FHA Made Buying And Remodeling Easier

The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) is one of the most misunderstood agencies of the government.

You'll hear people talk about getting a loan from the FHA: This can't be done and never was done.

The FHA lends no money. Its business is to insure mortgage loans made by banks and other lending institutions.

This doesn't mean that the government will step in and make your payments for you if you can't meet them. It means that if you are having a house built, or buying one from a builder, the FHA says in effect: "If that house is built to our stanndards, we will insure the bank against loss on its loan in case the house must be taken in foreclosure and resold at a loss."

If you are planning to remodel your house, a similar arrangement is made. In both cases you sign the usual bond or note for which you are personally liable. And in both cases you pay the insurance premium on the loan. This amounts to one-fourth of one per cent.

You'll hear people ask: "Why should I pay for insurance to protect the bank?"

There are several reasons. Before the FHA was established, you couldn't get such liberal loans, nor monthly payments extending over 20 years or more. For modernizing a house, it would be difficult today to get as much as $2,500 spread out in monthly payments over 30 months, without FHA insurance.

But most important is the assurance established by FHA standards, which in many cases have been stricter than building codes. One out of every three new homes in the United States is financed with an FHA-insured mortgage, which indicates the popularity of the system.

By seeing to it that the entire transaction is economically sound, the FHA has kept foreclosures at a minimum. Although more than two million homes were financed under Section 203 of the National Housing Act with insured mortgages, only three out of a thousand had to be foreclosed.

This stability resulted in an accumulation of premiums so far exceeding needed reserves than many millions in rebates have been made in certain classes of paid-up mortgages.

Ask Lawyer Before You Sign to Buy

Every home buyer, or home builder, needs a lawyer when he signs a contract.

Many people make the mistake of thinking that the important time to call in a lawyer is when they take title. The smart man has his lawyer on hand on both occasions—contract and closing.

When you sign a contract to buy real estate, the seller has his lawyer with him, or presents you with a contract drawn by his lawyer. If you do not have your lawyer present, you may find that you have signed a very one-sided contract.

A lawyer can protect you from buying property which a seller may not own. He can competently inspect tax receipts, determine encumbrances and see that you have some guarantee that the seller will fulfill his obligations.

The seller may be your friend, and you may trust him, but if he should die before the contract is fulfilled, you need legal protection.

Many people have signed contracts specifying, for example, that their house would be completed by a certain date. A lawyer wil ltell you that such a testament means absolutely nothing without the insertion of a legal phrase: "time is of the essence."

If you sign a contract without legal guidance and call in a lawyer when you are about to take title, don't be surprised if he tells you that you signed away whatever rights you were entitled to, and that all he can do is to pick up the pieces.

SMART PLUMBING FITTINGS

If you are in the market for new bathroom fixtures, you will want to consider the new designs that accomodate smartly tooled fittings, including large cut glass style knobs in place of the usual hot and cold water controls.

ATTIC JOB: Pour Mica Bubbles In For Insulation

One of the most interesting of modern building materials is vermiculite—a mineral which is a form of mica. Extremely light in weight, it is used as an aggregate in concrete for roof slabs and other places where lightness is an advantage. Expanded under heat, in a sort of puffed-wheat process, it becomes a highly efficient insulator with millions of air bubbles imprisoned.

Householders are more familiar with vermiculite in its loose insulating form. It is easily poured between joists where attic floors are not installed. All openings along the tops of walls are closed first and the layer of vermiculite provides an effective fire barrier as well as checking heat loss through the ceiling.

Amateurs Show How

An interesting demonstration of how amateurs can install this insulation was staged recently in Arlington Heights, a suburb of Chicago. An average couple with no special training was selected. The house involved had an unfloored attic measuring 34 by 27 ft.

It was estimated that 50 sacks of loose fill vermiculite would provide a layer three inches thick. The couple filled a rented trailer with the 50 sacks, drove out to the house and had no trouble unloading the materials since sacks 48 inches high weigh only 18 pounds.

They carried the sacks up to the attic and poured the insulation between the joists, raking it with a board cut to slide along the tops of the joists and spread the pellets to an even depth. The job took three hours, with three breaks for cigarettes and soda pop. The cost of the material totaled $67.

Dr. George E. Ziegler, director of research for the manufacturers who arranged the demonstration, asserted that the project might reduce fuel bills for that four-and-a-half-room brick bungalow by as much as 22 per cent.

MODERN INSULATION is lightweight. Here a Chicago couple pour vermiculite between attic joists to demonstrate how easy it is to do the job yourself.

Paneling a Room Can Add to Warmth

An easy way to refinish and at the same time insulate a room in an old house—no matter how badly the plaster may be cracked—is to apply a reflective vapor barrier, furring strips and pine paneling.

If there are no holes in the walls a thorough coating of aluminum paint can be applied to the walls. Or paper the room with metal foil.

Locate studs—usually spaced 16 inches on centers—by tapping for solid sounds. Securely nail thin furring strips horizontally around the room to provide nailing bases for vertical pine boards. Tongue and groove lumber, with or without decorative edges, can then be nailed to the furring. Thin trimming strips can frame windows and form a new baseboard. Quarter-round molding or cornice srips can trim the wall and ceiling joints.

The paneling can be finished natural, stained or painted. And you can count on the rom being warm.

PAINTING DRAWER FRONTS

When finishing unpainted furniture, remove the drawers and stand them with drawer-fronts up. This prevents the possibility of enamel runs or sags.

Home Owners Take Chances Without Title Insurance

More home owners take chances without title insurance than any other form of indemnity.

Fire, life and even liability insurance are more widely understood than title insurance. Yet a title policy sometimes can prove more valuable than a fire policy.

Even total loss by fire leaves you with a foundation and your land. But if your title in invalid you can lose all.

Of course this doesn't happen very often. More frequently an unjustified claim arises. Some neglected heir of a previous owner of the land feels that he has a right or part interest in it. Such a claim must be fought in court.

Legal Costs Run High

The biggest feature of title insurance is that the title company must defend any claim that is made against your ownership. The cost of such a defense may exceed the cost of your home.

Don't be misled by the fact that you have a mortgage on your house and that the mortgage lender charged you for title insurance along with fire insurance when you took title to the property. Insurance held by the mortgage lender does not protect your equity. The mortgage lender is only interested in seeing that his loan is safeguarded. Financially it makes no difference to the mortgage lender who holds the equity, so long as the loan is protected and paid..

The amount of cash you have invested in your home, which increases with each payment toward reducing the mortgage, is unprotected without an owner's title policy. When your mortgage is paid off, the bank's' title insurance ceases, and there is no protection on any part of the property. But an owner's policy continues indefinitely without further premium payments. One single payment in the beginning is permanent.

Even though your mortgage may amount to more than your share in the deal, you are the owner and it is your responsibility to defend your title to protect both yourself and the mortgage lender.

Sometimes a flaw in title develops without a claim being filed. You may be planning to sell your property and the prospective purchaser's lawyer may discover some long lost survey or other records that show your title to be imperfect. You are then saddled with an unmarketable title.

Protection From Mistakes

Title insurance compels a title company to make your title good, even if the company itself made a mistake in the beginning. It insures you against errors made by clerks in public offices, surveyors and court officers.

It's usually cheaper to get a title policy when taking title to a property than it is at a later date. The same company issuing title insurance on the mortgage often extends to you a complete owner's policy—not merely on the equity, but on the total value—at a reduced rate. This is because the title search and examination have just been made and the cost of this work, as loss-prevention work on the part of prevention work on the part of the company, accounts for the bulk of the title charge.

Three Basic Hues Allow For Accents

What is the recipe for a pretty home?

Should it be conservative . . . giddily decorated . . . cramped and overstuffed? Many homes, violating all the rules of good taste are nothing more than eye sores.

What can you do to make your home more attractive?

Harmony in Color

Your home should have sugar and spice—but the spice should be used in easy doses. Colors are more compatible, usually, when added to your home just as spice is used in concocting a culinary delight — little by little.

Color consultant Beatrice West, who has decorated the exteriors and interiors of a great many housing projects, including Levittown and a New Mexico development for atom bomb workers says:

"In planning your home, first start with color — before you purchase a piece of furniture. A good idea is to select something you've fallen in love with —a drapery or a rug—and plan it as your basic color. Then build from there."

Selecting Accent Colors

Miss West suggests that you start with a theme, using a maximum of three basic colors. The basic ground should be neutral and soft, highlighted by small pieces in brighter colors. These color accents if used in pillows or odd chairs can be in addition to the basic three.

A good rule of thumb, says Miss West, is that only one pattern should predominate, whether it is drapery, slip-cover or whatever. In addition to this a tone-on-tone pattern in which all shades are of the same color can be used, or a coordinated stripe, coordinating colors to be found in the pattern which predominates in the room.

Miss West suggests the following color schemes might be helpful to the amateur decorator.

Black and white background accented with red, green or the orangey coppers.

Lime or chartreuse combined with blue-green or any of the greens using red, coral and/or white for accent.

French blue combined with white and accents of fuchsia, coral, or purple to lend warm tones.

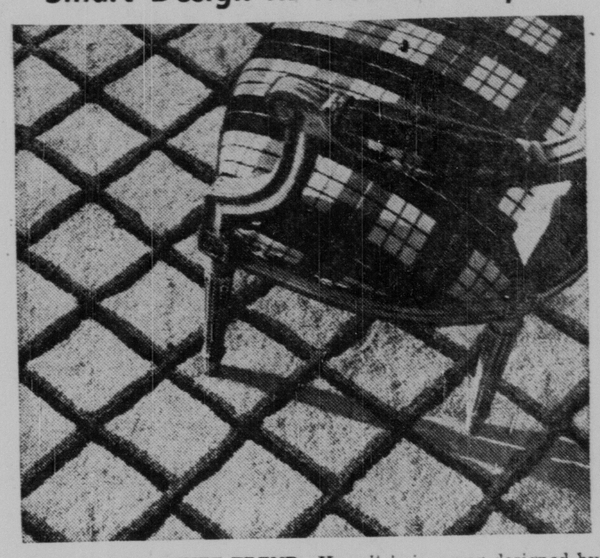

Miss West cautions that the colors of the exterior of your house should be taken into consideration when planning the interior.

White is being used more and more as an accent in the home now that we have washable fabrics such as nylon and orlon. Lovely provincial motifs in black on white backgrounds bring glamwhite squares add glamor to the black-and-white scheme.

Accents in bright colors such as throw pillows will set off a gray, gold, light blue or black sofa to great advantage.

A recent survey showed that men have a prefernce for cool colors — blue was the choice of about 45 per cent of the men polled. They like red and purple accents, and also approve of green, yellow, orange in that order.

Smart Design In Modern Carpet

BLACK AND WHITE TREND—Here it is in a rug designed by Edward Fields. The room is accented in gay hues of orange-copper.

WHEN AND HOW TO BUY LAND

More Value

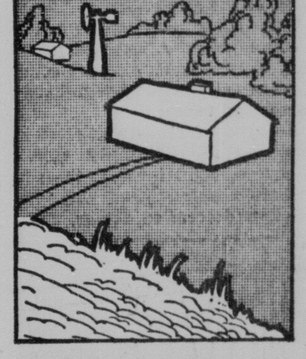

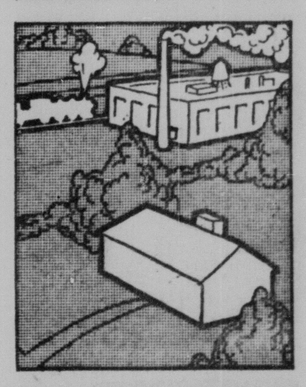

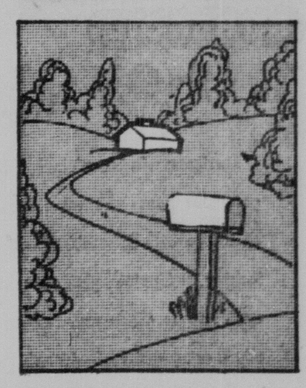

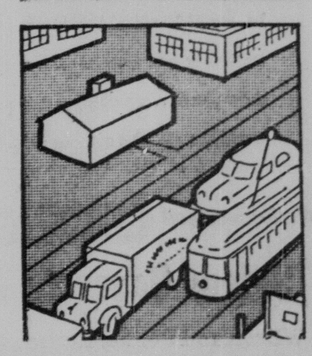

Less Value

The value of land is always set by what the land can be used for. Is it better for farming, mining, timber, or grazing? Would it make a good site for a factory, chain-store, parking lot, skyscraper, or your home?

Unused land, barring discovery of uranium, oil or the like, is a poor investment. You can hold it for years and its increase in value may not offset the accumulation of taxes.

For the man planning to build or buy a house, it is prudent to consider some of the fundamentals in land value. Location is highly important. A good location for one family may not suit another. Yet the location must appeal to others besides yourself. Like architecture location should not be so unique that it lacks resale value!

Of course, there are exceptions to all rules. And you can make your own exceptions in selecting your own homesite. But here are some general factors to weigh:

FIRST . . . .

Check the display and classified ads from day to day where you will find that these Reliable Real Estate Brokers offer diifferent type properties.

SECOND . . . .

Call or visit your local Real Estate Broker's office and explain to him your plans for a future home (Salem, suburban, or farm area). Give him full detail of what you would like to have and how you would like to buy. All conversation will be strictly confidential. He will then explain to you what you should buy, the location you should be in and he will also explain just what is necessary in the way of financing (if financing is needed). And, of course, you local Bank or Loan Company will be glad to assist you in any way possible.

If you intend to build, care should be taken in selecting your lot. Don't try to build a large house on a small lot, or vice-versa. Also you must be sure that the drainage, sewers and water connections are properly taken care of.

When you buy through a Real Estate Broker, he will explain to you what must be done to make sure the title is good (in the present owner's name) and if the purchase is made direct from owner, be sure you get an abstract of title and have it carefully checked so as title can be passed in case of resale.

Dry Walls Cut Costs, But Take Careful Work

Dry wall construction has become one of the most popular modern building methods. As its name implies, it embraces all applications of wall panels directly on the framing studs, eliminating lathing and the use of wet plaster.

Dry walls were introduced primarily for economy, but now are recognized to have some other advantages.

A survey of 626 home builders conducted by the Architectural Forum, Magazine of Building, showed the three leading techniques used to reduce over-all house-building costs were (1) close supervision, (2) dry wall construction, and (3) the use of power tools and pre-cut lumber.

The most common materials used for dry wall panels are gypsum wallboard, which is really pre-cast plaster with a paper facing delivered in large sheets, pressed hardboards, which are laminated wood fibers, various plywoods, which include finished hardwood veneers, and prefinished wallpanels, which are made from hardwood materials with baked enamel coatings.

Although walls finished with the conventional three coats of plaster still give a house a premium feature in resale value, properly installed dry walls virtually defy detection of seams. However, it may be difficult to achieve perfect installation. But expansive ceilings have been covered with gypsum panels and—when the job has been done carefully—merely a normal finish of ceiling paint conceals traces of where panels are joined.

There are various ways of obliterating panel joints and the type of board used usually determines the method. With gypsum wallboard, a special cement is mixed to putty-like consistency and buttered into the channel left by the recessed edges of the panels. Over this a perforated reinforcing tape is stretched and feathered over with cement, which after a second coat has dried, is sanded lightly for a smooth surface ready for decoration.

Nailheads are carefully dimpled below the surface of the panels and cemented and sanded similarly to the joints.

This taping treatment is called a concealed joint. Exposed joints and covered joints also are commonly used especially with hardboards and veneers.

An exposed, or V-joint, often is exploited for decorative effect. A covered joint involves the use of batten strips, metal moldings or other decorative details. J. B. Palmer, expert on dry wall construction for the Masonite Corp., points out that in the use of either exposed or covered joints it is important to plan the panels properly to bring the joints symmetrically in relation to the wall areas.

"By proper selection and handling of the joints," he explains, "much can be added to the over-all design of a wall. A carpenter can vary effects by either bevelling or rounding the edges, cutting bevels deep or shallow, bringing panels into moderate contact, or leaving a slight gap."

Sometimes panels are spaced an inch or more apart, top, bottom and sides, to produce a raised panel effect. Decorative wood moldings also are placed between panels to add direct interest to the joints.

Embossed hardwood, panels, such as Leatherwood, often are finished with a hide welt or gimp.

Palmer prefers exposed or covered joints as more foolproof methods when using rigid panels that may expand or contract slightly, or be affected by building settlement.

"In ordinary frame construction," he says, "there are many possibilities for movement."

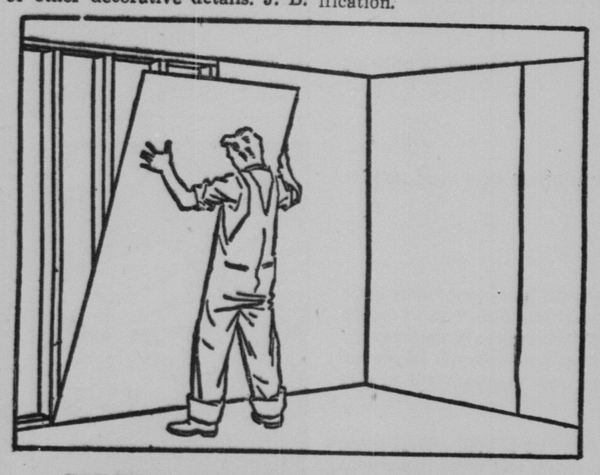

While dry wall panels are nailed securely to framing members, small sections such as acoustical ceiling tiles and boards are now installed with special concealed clips. Since paint tends to destroy some of the acoustical properties of such ceiling tiles, nailheads cannot be touched up. The clips (called quick-clips) hook over furring strips and imbed their horizontal lower terminals into the edges of the soft tiles.

Paint Gave Name To the White House

The White House in Washington, D. C., gets its name from the coat of white paint that concealed the smoke smudges on its limestone walls after the British set fire to the President's Palace in 1814.

When George Washington outlined his plans for the original structure to the architect, he stipulated that the building was to "have the sumptuousness of a palace, the convenience of a house and the agreeableness of a county seat." But he didn't specify the color.

White paint got the job in 1814 and even the recent remodeling did not dare to change this specification.

DRY WALL panels in 4 by 8-foot sheets are easily placed.

Molded Plastic Makes Countertop Drip-Proof

KITCHEN COUNTER TOPS are now made of molded plastic in one large seamless piece with a raised and rounded front edge that prevents overflows on the floor. Here spilled chocolate frosting is wiped up with a sponge showing how the rounded splashback, which is part of the counter top, offers no unsanitary crack or crevice for food deposits. Developed by the chemical division of General Electric, the surface is plastic resin impregnated and welded under heat in hydraulic presses. The complete lamination is 3/16-inch thick, can be mitre-cut for forners in a U-shaped kitchen and butt joined with glue. The material is self-supporting, requires no plywood base for rigidity and can be installed over an old top or rested on base cabinets.

Watch a Word's Legal Meaning

The legal meaning of a word can cause a lot of trouble in a real estate transaction. An interesting example was cited recently by George F. Anderson, legal expert of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

A buyer had signed an installment contract, which was duly recorded. He made several payments before he decided to drop the deal. The seller wanted the contract removed from record so he could sell the property to someone else. To do this, he got the buyer to sign a memorandum on the back of the contract, it stating: "By mutual consent the within contract is hereby rescinded."

The buyer then wanted his payments back, minus a fair rental. He brought suit. The seller said, "Why this is ridiculous," But it wasn't. The word "rescinded" meant that the situation reverted to the same as if no contract has ever been signed.

"The word 'discharged' should have been used," Attorney Anderson explains. "That means that everything done under the contract up to the date of discharge is valid."

KILLING CARPET MOTHS

A way to destroy moths in a carpet is to lay a wet cloth on the carpet, then rub a hot iron over

Easy-To-Clean Fabrics Win Place on the Wall

Time was when a fabric meant heavy or light in texture, floral or striped design. Most fabrics had to be dry cleaned.

Today you can have your choice of washable rayon, nylon, cotton, orlon—magnificent antique satins, velvets and easy-to-care-for plastics which can duplicate almost any fabric in appearance. A wide range of decorator colors in solid hues, lovely muted florals and interesting striped fabrics bring beauty to the American home.

The improvement of fabric and design has been due to the education of the consumer says Margaret Reilly, stylist for Waverly Fabrics.

Cites National Response

She points out that heretofore New York, Chicago and a couple of other large cities would be at least six months ahead of the rest of the country in the selection of fabric designs. But today, the job of the fabric people is easier because good design gets a national response. Says she:

"It used to be that most fabric companies would have to keep 'pot boilers' — clumsy bouquet designs—in their lines for the mass market. Today you can't give them away."

Miss Reilly says she has several theories about the great interest evidenced in the home today. She believes that GI's saw prettier homes than they'd been used to while on thei rtravels, that parents want to dress up their homes prettily for their teenagers to keep them at home more, that television makes the family entertain more and that husbands are taking a greater interest in the home.

Why Provincial Is Popular

She is amazed at the desire for high style colors—French lilacs, greens and earth colors. Provincial design in every form is much in demand, she says, principally because Provincial having roots, the designs are better than average. Simple little Provincial designs go with either traditional or contemporary furnishings — another reason for their popularity, she says. These smaller designs are better scaled with softer colors so that patterns do not look too busy.

A great many people are putting fabric on their walls, she says. This is helpful where walls are uneven and messy. She advises the following method for applying fabric to walls:

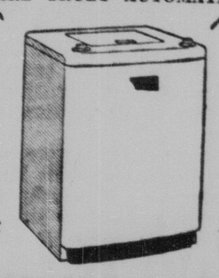

If you want to put the fabric on permanently so that it doesn't scar, put wall paper paste directly on the wall (not on the fabric). Roll the fabric on, tacking it and then smoothing it down, removing the tacks as you go along. Use the vacuum cleaner attachment when you wish to clean wall fabric. If the fabric is to be a temporary arrangement, staple it or tack it to the wall. Then it can be taken down and washed.

Wall fabric does not soil as readily as paper because it is not so absorbent, says Miss Reilly.

LAYING ATTIC FLOOR

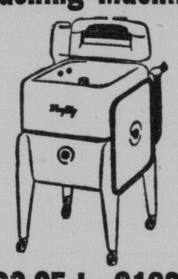

When laying an attic floor, saw the boards so the ends overlap only half the thickness of a joist, allowing support for nailing the end of the next board. Stagger the ends of floor boards so that too many of them will not end on the same joist.

Why Landscaping Is A Personal Matter

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Landscaping a home is a project which should be started before the owner takes an option on the empty plot. For most of us it ends only on the day we put the house on the market.

Ideally, houses and their grounds—however small—are to be planned together to produce an integrated, useful whole in these days of indoor and outdoor living.

The question of determining exactly what the individual or the family wants from its grounds is as personal as one's toothbrush, and no single article—not even a book or set of books—could prescribe the exact type of planting which would be ideal for the Jones family.

Even though the Jones' live next door to the Smiths, and their houses are like peas in a pod, their landscaping needs in all likelihood will be vastly different. Mr. Jones, for instance may be a passionate gardener and want to use his limited space for the raising of delphinium; the Smiths, on the other hand, may be bears for outdoor barbecues and badminton and elect to use the comparable space for a lawn court and erect a brick fireplace in one corner, complete with rotisserie.

Some Do's and Dont's

There are, however, a few general rules to be observed—or at least considered—in the general planning of the home and its grounds.

SIMILAR HOUSES take on distinction with individuality in landscaping.

Take a look at the soil of the land before you buy. The location may be grand, the view perfect and the neighborhood just right. But is the ground rock covered? Is the soil heavy with clay or is it sandy or is it perfect for growing things? Is there a good supply of water available?

If your house must be built on and near impossible soil, be prepared to dig deep into your purse to change conditions—or revise your dreams to fit your purse and to use what nature provided that will flourish on almost any kind of soil, but it may mean that where you desperately wanted a hedge of flowering shrubs, you may have to settle for a post-and-rail fence with rambling roses wandering over them.

Landscaping property should serve a number of purposes. You may have to use growing things to provide a screen from the street—either to conceal unattractive and necessary items like the family laundry on the line or to give your family a spot where they can stretch out in shorts for a sun-tan. On the other hand, you may decide that what you want most is a colorful vista from that picture window and the way to do it is to set out an arrangement of trees, shrubs and flowers for your own private delight.

With the intelligent use of your own brain and its knowledge of your family's habits and aims, plus the advice from a reliable nurseryman or landscape gardnerer and with all the information available in books and pamphlets, there's no reason every home owner can not achieve, at minimuum cost, a planting suited to his needs.

That handsome evergreen planting across the street, with its showy Spring display of laurel and rhododendron may seem a perfect solution to you, but what you need may turn out to be spirea and forsythia—your house is different, your soil is different and so is the way the sun and shade hits the property. Foundation plantings were invented to conceal the ugly lines of old-fashioned houses. You may be able to skip one entirely and sink your money in plants to border your property.

Year-Round Planting

Think of your house during the four seasons of the year and try to provide something to add to its beauty on a year-round basis. There are spring, summer and fall blooming shrubs. Evergreens are wonderful to provide color in winter, but they aren't the entire answer. Avoid buying young trees which ultimately are going to grow into forest size and dwarf your home.

For goodness sake, don't stick a single specimen tree—like the ubiquitous blue spruce of 15 years ago—smack in the middle of your lawn. Think in terms of groups of plantings and co-related units. Don't go in for fads in plantings — remember when every new house had to have a conical shaped evergreen at each corner? Show your own personality and your own taste as much by the location of a cutleaf red maple as you do by your selection of your living-room slip covers.

And finally, don't be too sure your builder knows his landscaping as well as he understands joists and flashings. Unless you are satisfied on his understanding of the subject, try to separate the landscaping contract from the house-building deal and then call in an expert for help. In the long run, it turns out to be an economy, for you won't have to rip up and start over to wipe out the mistakes.

Spray Painting Can Be Messy Job in the House

You bought a vacuum cleaner with a paint spraying attachment?

Well, look out when trying to use it.

Paint spraying can turn out a professional finish on your automobile, kitchen cabinets, and so on, but you have to know how to handle it.

You have to wear old clothes, which you are ready to throw away—an old hat that covers a lot of territory—gloves, and a thick coating of cosmetic cream or petroleum jelly over your face and all exposed skin.

The spray from the paint is going to cover everything it settles on.

Because of the rapid diffusion of vapor and fumes, odorless paint lends itself readily to this type of work. Douglas C. Arnold, president of the Keystone Paint and Varnish Corp., of Brooklyn, pioneers in odorless paint, was asked for his advice on the use of popular vacuum cleaner sprayers.

"If properly used," Mr. Arnold said, "a sprayer can produce a smooth, even finish, with no runs or brush marks, and do the job two or three times faster than brushing.

"But it's important that you cover everything, which you do not want to be colored with the paint you are using. This presents quite a problem.

"If you are spraying the walls and ceiling of a room, the woodwork, or windows—floors and every other detail that is not to be painted — must be covered with old newspapers and tightly sealed with masking tape."

Paint experts usually advise against spraying the walls of a small room — although it has been done successfully by professionals. A Long Island, New York, developer used paint spraying throughout the interior of houses to cut costs.

A professional pressure tank with a capacity of two to 100 gallons of paint is used when a great deal of spray is to be done. This eliminates the bother of constantly filling the reservoir and insures uniform color when ready mixed colors are not used.

Small sprayers — those attached to vacuum cleaners and those powered with a 1/3 horsepower motor—are usually adequate for the amateur job.

Any sprayer, however, should be held away from the wall so that the finish is partially set by the time it reaches the surface and so will not run. For instance, when using paints mixed with benzine, which is a fast-evaporating solvent, hold the sprayer about 18 inches from the surface.

Average Bathroom Catch-All Where Housewife Stores Junk

By CHARLES HONCE

This piece is about the bathroom—one of the most important rooms in a house. It will have nothing to do with size, arrangement, or architectural detail.

My theme is: Why is the average bathroom the junk shop of the home? Why does it have to be the catch-all for everything the housewife can't find a place for elsewhere? Why does it have to look like Macy's bargain basement on a sales day?

I don't think I have overstressed the point. The bathrooms of some of my friends are so filled with objects that it is hard to breathe in them. A well-stocked drugstore could be put together from the toiletries stashed away or in full display therein.

Not to mention use of the bathroom as a place to wash and dry clothing.

I have successfully resisted most of this bathroom hodge podge, but it is a hard job. I have even discouraged use of the room as a clothing dryer, except possibly for a few pairs of stockings.

Two Baths No Solution

Hal Boyle told me the other day that he had achieved some high point in his life when he moved into an apartment with two bathrooms. One was his very own. There was a feeling of luxuriousness in having this little corner of the world all to himself.

So what happens? So his wife uses her bathroom for herself and dries her clothes in Hal's. Thus he has lost a little bit of the glory and wonder of life.

Now, what are my specifications for a proper bathroom? Outside of the standard built-in equipment that goes with every normal bathroom I see no reason for permitting the addition of much more than one modest clothes hamper. I won't quarrel with a small waste basket and a weighing scale if you feel that it is necessary. Soap, a bath brush, a glass and towels complete my outside equipment.

Use No Hooks!

When I moved into my present apartment I took down all hooks, brackets, nails, and similar objects. I considered they were merely invitations to hang unnecessary objects. My wife objected, but I won on this one.

That takes care of the outside. Now open the medicine cabinet and treat yourself to a bit of amazement. The average cabinet is overflowing with pills and unguents and ointments and oils and washes and medicines and heaven knows what else. Every householder should go through this mess at least twice a year and throw away everything he can't identify or that he feels he really can do without. If you do this in a thorough manner you will find that you haven't much left except the few items really necessary for daily toilet use.

I also have a few pet peeves. One is guest towels. I never have met a man in my life who didn't sneer at these singular objects. Let it be breathed that a guest is on the way to your home and presto the comfortable Turkish towels and wash rags promptly disappear in favor of those dinky, virtually unusable "guest" towels which evidently were designed for Singer's midgets. I always have maintained that they are never used, either because the guest finds them unsuitable for the purpose for which they supposedly were designed or he is afraid he will make his hostess mad by soiling one of her "pretties."

My wife says I am all wet; that the towels serve a useful purpose and that people would think we were living on the wrong side of the tracks if we provided them with good comfortable Turkish towels.

Colorful Idea Wasted

Another peeve is against the ugliness of the average standard bathroom equipment and the difficulty of getting in and out of the normal tub without wrecking yourself. Thirty years ago, when all bathroom equipment was white, I began asking why manufacturers didn't introduce colors; but, alas! I failed to patent the idea. Today, colors are widely used, but the standard design of tubs, basins and the like hasn't changed much and seldom has esthetic appeal.

I think some institution should furnish the money to promote research into the designing of a safe and comfortable bathtub—one that is easy to get into and out of. I have invented a complicated system that takes care of my bathing at home. But when I am elsewhere I have to make mathematical calculations, including the use of advanced trigonometry to figure how to beat the game. I suppose you will say why not use the shower? Answer: I have two, but I prefer a bathtub.

This has gone rather far afield. I started out by pleading against turning a bathroom into an attic repository or a basement junk heap.

What I probably am trying to say is: Let's have a bathroom that doesn't look like a bathroom. A place that is just as attractive in its own way as is your living room or dining room, or whatever is your most prized living space.

Best Way to Use Paint Remover

Paint and varnish remover will take off an old coating of paint that is in bad condition. Apply the remover to a small area at a time. Allow it to stand a few minutes until it softens the old paint. Scrape off the old finish with a scraper or steel wool. Before putting on new paint, clean the old surface thoroughly with turpentine or mineral spirits to remove any traces of wax left by the remover.

Let Budget Guide Your Home Choice

The difference between salary and take-home pay has changed the old rule about what you can afford to pay for a house.

Budget advisors in banks used to agree that a man could afford a house costing from one-and-one-half to two-and-a-half times his annual income.

Now because of withholding taxes, hospitalization, pension assessments, union dues and the various deductions that are made from pay checks, you are generally advised by conservative counselors to keep your fixed monthly payments down to equal one week's take-home pay.

The most prudent way to figure fixed monthly payments is to include not only interest and installments toward paying off the mortgage, but to add monthly average costs of all real estate taxes, fuel, gas, electricity, telephone, water, fire insurance, and a reasonable amount for upkeep. (If it costs $600 to paint your house, set aside $10 a month toward a paint job in five years.)

Home owners who must commute to work in large metropolitan areas are wise to figure their monthly travel expenses, which must come out of the family budget somewhere. A house close in may cost more, but a house farther out adds to commutation.

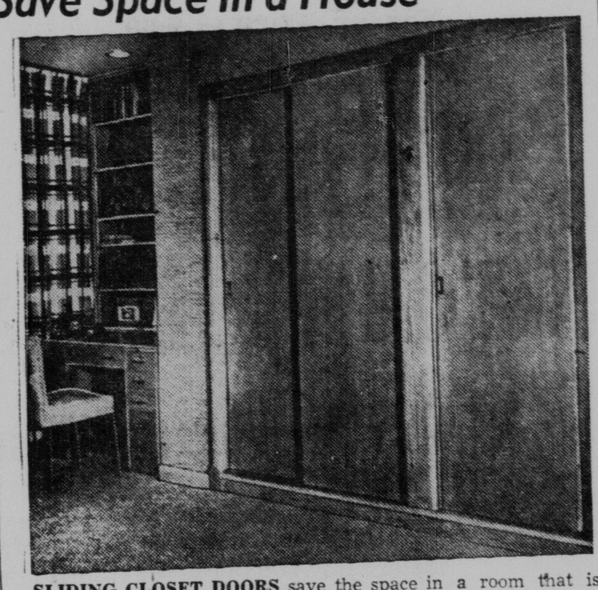

To find yourself house-poor, especially in these days of high living costs, does not make for a happy home life when every movie or holiday observance pinches the family budget.

Paying off a mortgage can be considered saving, but you need available savings in addition.

Sliding Closet Doors Save Space in a House

SLIDING CLOSET DOORS save the space in a room that is needed for swinging doors and eliminate hidden corners in a closet. Concealed rollers operate on unobtrusive rails. The doors can be built up from ordinary plywood and painted, or surfaced with hardwood veneers for natural finishes. Sliding doors in storage walls characterize the modern house plan.

Don't Get Stuck On the Wrong Glue

There's a special glue for almost every purpose.

Plastic resin glues are completely waterproof, can be used in boat building and will withstand all weather.

Casein glue, while not waterproof, is a favorite in woodworking because it is used cold and does not set too rapidly.

Hot animal glue is the old-time adhesive of cabinet makers. It is strong, stainless and sets quickly.

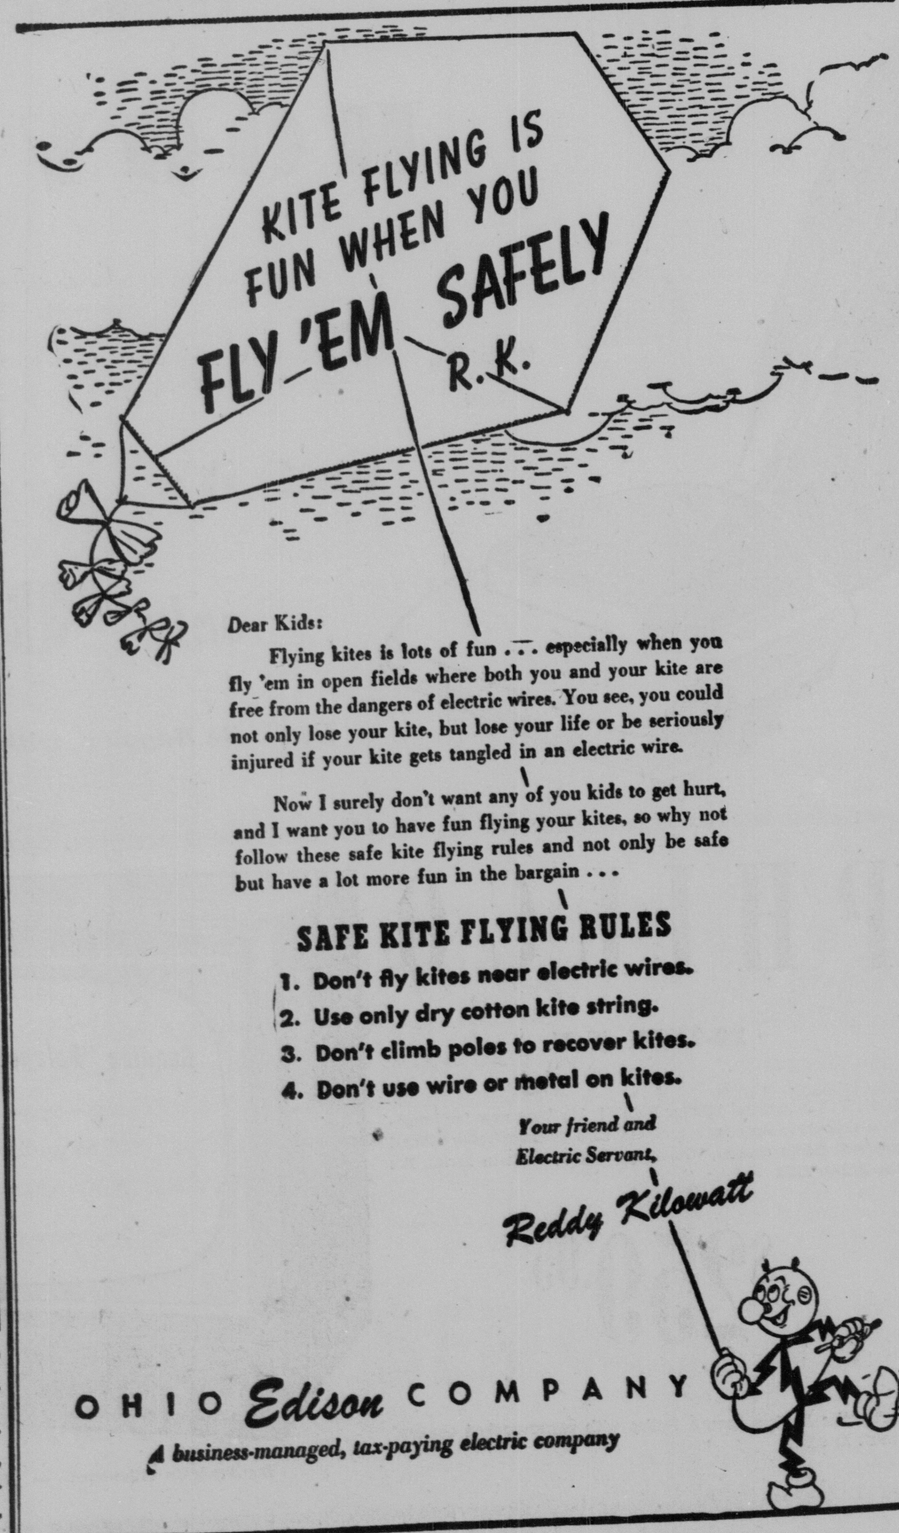

Fish and vegetable glues are among the prepared liquid glues, handy for quick household repairs, but not moisture-proof.

Dear Kids:

Flying kites is lots of fun . . . especially when you fly 'em in open fields where both you and your kite are free from the dangers of electric wires. You see, you could not only lose your kite, but lose your life or be seriously injured if your kite gets tangled in an electric wire.

Now I surely don't want any of you kids to get hurt, and I want you to have fun flying your kites, so why not follow these safe kite flying rules and not only be safe but have a lot more fun in the bargain . . .

SAFE KITE FLYING RULES

1. Don't fly kites near electric wires.
2. Use only dry cotton kite string.
3. Don't climb poles to recover kites.
4. Don't use wire or metal on kites.

Fighting Obsolescence By Forecasting Trends

The man who builds a new house is in a strong position to combat obsolescence and keep it away from his home for possibly a long time. Much depends on his judgment.

Of course, no one can beat obsolescence. New ideas and new preferences are going to affect houses in the future just as much, if not more than in the past. But, more popular attention is being paid to architectural details and this knowledge can be power.

The new home builder today is much less likely to accept a plan that is out of date before the house is started. The woman, for one, is not going to tolerate the attitude that this type of house was good enough for Grandpa, so it's good enough for us.

Some of the radical departures from customary houses indicate rather a danger of overstepping in anticipating future trends. No house becomes obsolescent faster than a house that has na appeal to others.

Emotion Rules Design

So the trick in choosing a house design that will endure is to study trends, analyze needs and double check human emotions. Emotions seem to have a greater bearing on architecture and decoration than intellect ever does.

People know that window shutters are archaic, that they add to the useless and costly gingerbread on a house, but many people want them and will pay for them to get that roses-over-the-door tug on their heartstrings.

Others contend that the window-wall is a must—regardless of view or lack of view—that it marks the house of the future. They are willing to pay more for heat, more for storm sash if needed, and much more for curtains, because the idea to them is exciting.

So you take your pick and wend your way between the traditional and so-called functional styles, hoping you'll hit the jackpot of enduring popularity.

However, some trends begin to appear obvious.

Larger living rooms and smaller bedrooms make sense.

Larger bathrooms to accommodate dressing counters, soap and towel storage and compartmented fixtures win votes.

Larger windows are here to stay even on small lots, where a private view can be created in the rear.

The ease of living in a one-story house gets the edge over the cheaper-to-build two-story house.

Roof pitch is getting lower — nearer to flat—where attics are not needed.

More closets make sliding doors a necessity to save swinging space.

Laundries in kitchens take one of the last reasons away from basements — but cellars are not vanishing yet.

The demand for outdoor living means terraces and outdoor fireplaces—with bugs ignored.

Remote control electrical wiring can make any house a push-button house.

And year-round air conditioning is here and spreading fast. Manufacturers of gas-fired air conditioners (Servel) have developed a year-round plant for oil-burning installations. R. G. Hughes, builder of Pampa, Texas, has developed a year-round air conditioning plant for houses selling at $10,500.

The house that can't be cooled in summer may soon be dated.

Home-Owners Spend Billions Remodeling

Estimates of the U. S. Department of Commerce show that more than $3,000,000,000 a year is being spent for home repair and remodeling.

Further indication of the boom in remodeling work comes from the Federal Housing Administration, which says that Title I maintenance and repair loans in 1951 amounted to $706,962,734, a new high.

One of the principal categories of maintenance work is reroofing. Remodeling and maintenance takes about half of the total production of asphalt roofing, the kind of material that meets about 90 per cent of the United States' roofing requirements.

The volume of reroofing is high because the roof is one of the most important shelter-providing parts of a house. The roof takes the heaviest beating from weather, and when a roof begins to leak prompt reroofing or repair is necessary to protect the building and its contents.

When used for a new roof on an existing structure, fire-resistant asphalt shingles can be applied on top of most worn materials. This saves the expense of taking the old material off and gives a thicker overall roof covering.

Acid Solution Takes Off Blotches On Brick Wall

Efflorescence — alkaline salts working to the surface — causes white, crusty blotches occuring sometimes on brick and concrete walls.

These blotches can be removed with a wire brush and washing with a solution of one part muriatic acid in ten parts of water. Rinse with clear water two minutes after application of the solution to avoid pitting the surface.

Care must be taken to protect your eyes when using this strong solution. Wear rubber gloves, too, and old clothing.

Civil War House Shakes Off Age in Remodeling

A TRANSFORMATION — This attractive colonial style facade was produced by a comparatively simple remodeling of the old house of Civil War vintage shown at the top.

You can't tell from the looks of a house how far it can jump into a new era. This 100-year-old, pre-Civil War house certainly presented a woe-begone appearance .But it was given a face-lifting that offers an example of the possibilities that remodeling offers.

Under the Title I property improvement program of the Federal Housing Authority (FHA), which your bank can tell you about, the government encourages modernization by insuring loans made for this purpose.

The owners of this pre-Civil War house wanted more light, for one thing. They took out the single window on each side of the main entrance and put in a pair of windows, spaced in classical design. Five new windows added to the second floor included two dormers in front for architectural balance.

Clapboard siding was painted white, window shutters a traditional green and a subdued shade of asphalt shingles harmonized the roof with the rest of the exterior.

Shellac Calls For Dilution With Alcohol

Pure shellac, because of its strength and durability, is one of the most popular finishes for floors and furniture. Called the world's toughest film, it is used on bowling alleys, gymnasium and dance floors. The American Bleached Shellac Manufacturers Association claims that 70 per cent of the floors in American cities are now finished with shellac.

One of its advantages is that it dries so quickly that dust particles that often detract from slower-drying finishes do not have time to settle and stick to its surface.

Because of its sealing qualities, a complete coat of shellac will prevent doors and drawers from sticking and jamming because of seasonal swelling. When used as an undercoat for paint, shellac will prevent stains from wood sap, water, oil or coal tar.

The cut of pure shellac is shown on the label. A 4-pound cut means four pounds of shellac to one gallon of denatured alcohol (not anti-freeze alcohol). Four-pound cut shellac is too thick for most purposes. For floors it is wise to dilute this mixture with an equal amount of denatured alcohol. This can be applied in two thin coats and a slightly heavier cut can be used for the third coat. It used to be that fine homes called for five or six thin coats.

Gourds make colorful decorations either as still life in a bowl, or suspended on a cord. To preserve a gourd, allow it to dry thoroughly. Then apply two thin coats of white shellac.

Maintenance Rule: Inspect Your Roof

A good home maintenance rule is to make a thorough inspection of the roof in the spring. The purpose is to detect any winter damage before it becomes serious enough to cause harm to the rest of the building or its contents.

Patching an old roof is seldom advisable. Most roofing wears uniformly, and the first leak is a sign that others probably will develop soon. In fact, climbing on an old roof to patch it often causes other leaks.

An economical way to reroof is with asphalt shingles, which usually can be put on without removing old roofing. The asphalt shingles are put on top of the worn material, saving the expense of removing the old roof.

PAINT ROLLER CARE

A lamb's wool paint roller can be restored to fluffiness when it becomes matted by working it over with a coarse pocket comb. Keep a roller not in use wrapped in paper or foil to keep it clean. The metal parts of a roller, especially the bearings, should always be carefully cleaned.

Home Work Tips: Look the Other Way and Outlast Mortgage

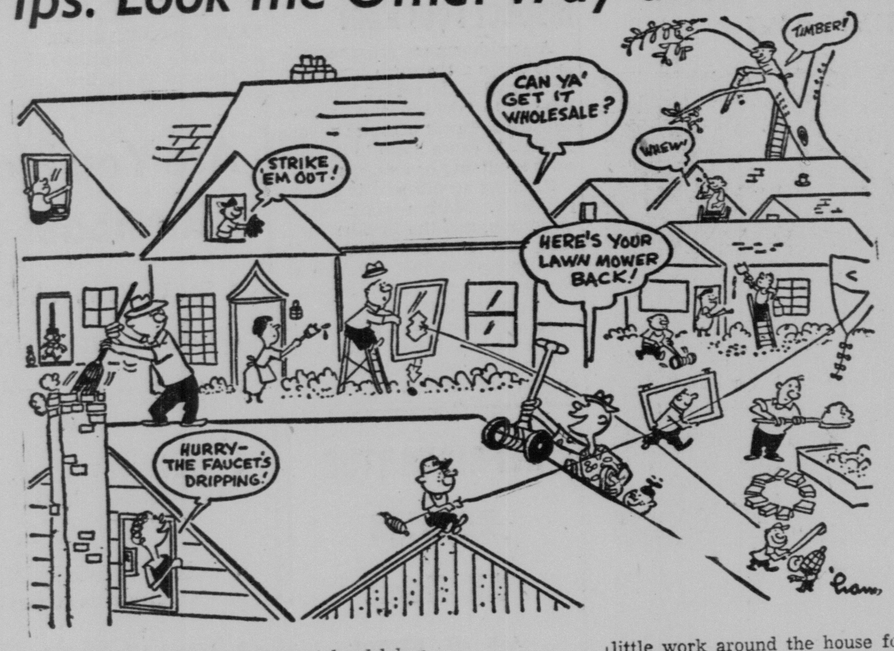

By SAUL PETT

What this country needs is a good five-cent formula for owning a house and enjoying it.

Anybody with some money and optimism can buy a home. But few people have the ability to stop working around the house and start relaxing in it. To do that, you need the peace of soul of a clergyman, the insight of a psychiatrist, the long-range detachment of a philosopher and the thick skin of a rhinoceros.

The main thing is to fight off the temptation to work. Usually it's your wife who is tempted and you who work. Don't undertake any job the first time she asks you to. Usually it will touch off a chain reaction involving eight other jobs. Don't undertake any job until your wife has asked you at least five times and is on the verge of hysteria.

Also, you must repress your own compulsion to demonstrate that you are as good a home fixer and keeper-upper as your neighbor. Chances are he's acting out some emotional need, too.

In my own neighborhood, which is only a year and a half old, Saturday morning finds the boys out painting, mowing, raking, hammering, cutting, caulking, building retaining walls, grading and re-grading, seeding and re-seeding, planting and trans-planting and, of course, fighting crab grass instead of playing with the kids for whom, all the fathers swear they bought the house in the first place.

Don't be fooled by the clever young wives who write clever pieces for the women's magazines about "men puttering around the house." Puttering, hell! It's more like working on a chain gang. The inmates pay for the privilege of serving out the sentence of their mortgage at hard labor.

Sure, you can enjoy your house. But you've got to be stubborn, you've got to be brave and unconventional. You've got to have the kind of courage that will permit you to lie in the hammock while everybody else on the block is working. You've got to be able to ignore the cold reproving stare you married.

Sure, every man likes to do a little work around the house for the creative satisfaction. But my trouble is that little jobs turn out to be big jobs every time.

My wife decides I ought to paint the basement windows. I clean them first. Then I notice a cracked pane. Got to be replaced, involving measuring and buying and installing new glass. Then I notice the frame can use a little caulking. So I buy a caulking gun and the compound. Awful sticky stuff. The frame has to be wiped clean again. The rustproof shutter hinges are rusting. Got to get new hinges. Back to the garage.

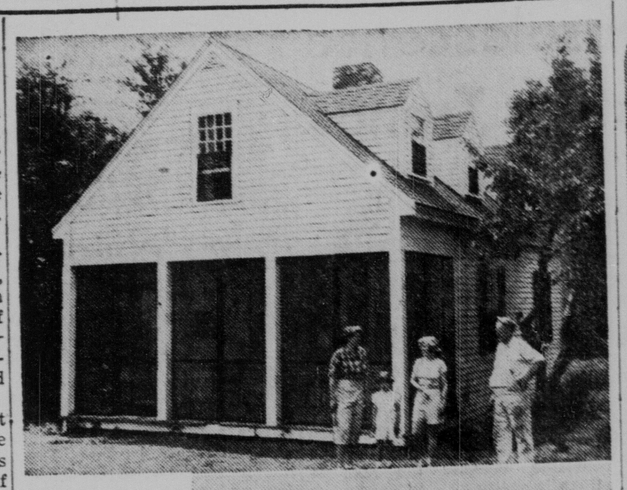

What happened to the hammer and screw-driver? Oh, yes, forgot them in the attic. Up in the attic, there's a thin slab of light coming through the waterproof roof. Got to get some shingle nails to fix the shingles and flashing to prevent a leak.

Up on the roof, the shingles get fixed but the gutters need to be cleaned. So I get all the leaves out and find the paint peeling off the gutters. Got to paint them before rot sets in.

Now what's stopping up the drain pipe? Got to get a "snake" and clean it out. Now it's clean but down on the bottom it empties onto a delicate young evergreen. Lousy place for a new plant, must be transplanted. Shover, spade, fertilizer. Got to be careful not to spray dirt on freshly painted basement windows.

But wait! The basement windows haven't been painted yet. Now what happened to the paint and brushes? On the roof. Who in hell was stupid enough to leave them on the roof? . . .

You see, men, you've got to be tough. You have to look the other way or you won't outlast the mortgage.

The old garage, right, was converted into a six-room house, above. The roof line was extended, and fire-resistant asphalt shingles took the place of the worn flammable roofing. Dormers were added to give more light to the upstairs.

Floor Tile Keys Each Room's Use

The popularity of the basementless house with radiant heated concrete floor and the spreading use of structural plywood for smooth and rigid subflooring have made resilient tile one of the most widely used floor coverings.

The ease of laying asphalt tile, rubber tile or cork tile has opened new avenues for originality for the home decorator as well as extending opportunities for design to the large areas which are devoted to floor.

Recreation rooms and game rooms were the first to demonstrate the possibilities of floor design through patterns formed by resilient tile. Shuffleboards and other game patterns permanently set with contrasting colors in the floors of recreation rooms pointed the way for dressing up floors throughout the house.

Entrance foyers, children's rooms, kitchens and dining areas now are frequently paved in appropriate designs that keynote the use of each room as definitely as wallpaper or other decorations.

A striking entrance foyer, for example, was paved in black floor tile accented with a white ribbon border one tile-width, or 9 inches from the edges and centered with a large black and white many-pointed compass star.

Children's rooms have been floored in keeping with a child's love of color and variety. Picture tiles of a cowboy on a bronco, a swimming frog, sailfish and other designs are found in boy's rooms. Rabbits, duck, birds, daisies and sunflowers appeal to the girls. Laughing clown designs, ABC's and numerals are popular for all children.

In kitchens where solid masses of white predominate in equipment, elaborate floor patterns in sharp color contrasts with theme accents show to advantage. Picture tiles for kitchens include kettles, pitchers, spoon and fork, fruit and vegetable still life. These are sometimes worked into borders or multi-tile squares in a marbelized floor or used singly in the center of a small kitchen.

Flower petal and ivy leaf designs are among those used in dining area floors.

The proportions of a room very often can be improved through floor patterns. Some basic principles have been worked out by designers of Kentile, Inc. They point out that while a checkerboard pattern in 9 inch squares often is suited for a small kitchen, a larger pattern formed by grouping four tiles at a time would not have sufficient space to repeat itself.

A long narrow room can be made to look wider and larger by running stripes in alternate colors crosswise on the floor. A large room can be pulled in by a wide border with a narrow contrasting stripe separating the border from the main floor area.

Oil Rub Will Keep A Ladder Strong

A ladder can be kept strong and flexible and prevented from splintering by rubbing with boiled linseed oil. This treatment should be applied once a week for several weeks and then repeated once a year with one or two coats. Rough surfaces on the ladder should be sanded smooth. Oil can be applied to a smooth ladder with a cloth.

THE KEY TO AUTOMATIC HEAT

Automatic heat, whether it is implemented by oil burner, automatic coal stoker, gas or electric radiant wall panels, is not entirely automatic without a clock thermostat. This device lowers the temperature at bedtime and raises it again early in the morning without any attention on your part.

It's easy to replace any old style manually operated thermostat with an electric clock type. New instruments are available that plug into any nearby electric outlet and call for no electrician's services to install. The electric cord can be fastened to the wall straight down to the baseboard and then over to the nearest outlet, or it can be stretched from the thermostat to any nearby woodwork and then carried down to the baseboard.

This system is as firesafe, or more so than any Underwriters' approved lamp cord, since it is subjected to no wear and never gets stepped on.

Installing Plug-In Type

To install a plug-in type of thermostat, remove the cover of a manual type and loosen the mounting screws until the instrument comes loose from the wall. If there is a terminal plate fastened to the wall, an adapter plate that comes with the clock-type can be mounted directly on the terminal plate, using three mounting screws which attach to the terminals.

If there is no terminal plate on the wall, one which comes with the plug-in type, is installed. The proper colored wire is connected to each terminal screw according to manufacturers' directions.

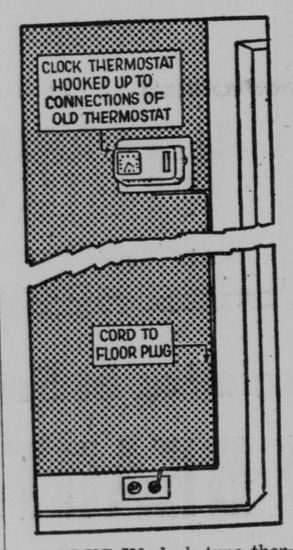

The new thermostat is then fastened to the plate with cover off. The time desired for day and night temperatures is then set on the dial. The average family sets a thermostat for night temperature at 10:30 or 11 p.m., and for day temperature at 6:30 or 7 a.m. The clock is then set and the cover replaced. The extension cord is connected and you have automatic heat — at least until a storm disrupts electric power.

Because of fire laws and local electrical ordinances it is best to have an electrician install a clock thermostat with wiring concealed in the walls, although it is possible for a handyman with basic electrical knowledge to do the job.

The location of a thermostat is vital to its efficiency. Heating engineers of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. warn that imbproper location of a thermostat can be responsible for the erratic operation of any good heating system.

These experts advise you to mount a thermostat about five feet from the floor and in a place where it will be affected only by the temperature of the room. It should not be fastened to a cold outside wall, nor where it will be exposed to air from frequently opened doors. It should be placed here it will have free circulation of air and not obstructed by furniture or drapes be placed where it will have free place, where radiant heat can affect it.

Nearby hot and cold water pipes, heating ducts in the wall, radiant heat from the sun, table lamps and even a television set can throw a thermostat out of kilter.

A PLUG-IN clock type thermostat is easily connected to a convenient outlet.

Lightning's A Hazard In Exposed Locations

Houses in exposed locations can be natural targets for lightning. On farms, for instance, lightning causes more fires than any other hazard. According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, thousands of buildings are destroyed in rural locations every year, between 400 and 500 persons are killed and more than 1,000 others are injured by lightning alone.

Contrary to popular belief, trees seldom afford protection and cannot be depended upon for safety. Fire prevention engineers regard trees as symbols of danger, especially when they overhang a house. These experts point out that lightning does not always follow the tree trunk to the ground. The bolt may jump from a branch to the broad wet roof of the house to find an easier path to the ground through the building.

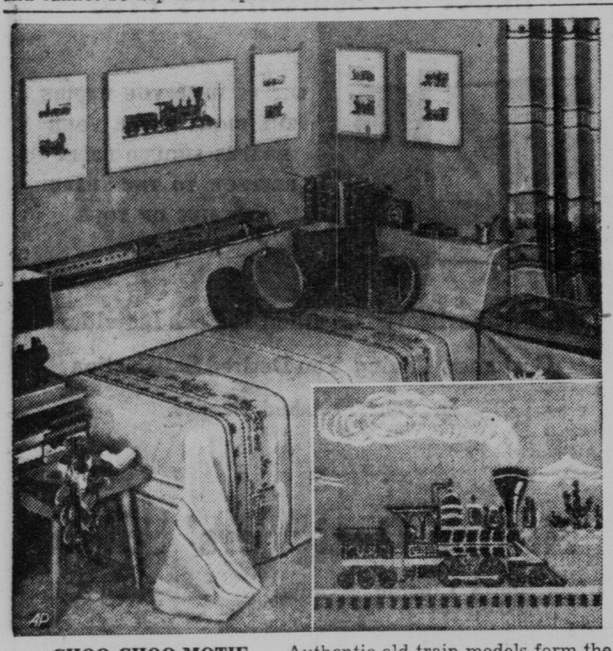

Lightning Rods Work

Lightning rods of the right size and materials, properly installed have proved to be almost 100 per cent effective. The Underwriters' Laboratories in Chicago, which has been testing and approving building materials and equipment for more than 50 years, reports that out of 150,000 approved lightning rod systems installed in all parts of North America, less than one per cent of the buildings were damaged by lightning in 30 years.

Adequate lightning rods work by providing electrical charges a direct and continuous route to the ground. In this way much of the electrical charge is dissipated before it builds up into a violent bolt. Without such a short cut, a bolt striking wood, concrete, brick or other materials that are poor conductors, sets up friction within them, producting heat that causes them to burn, or expanding them violently if they will not burn — splitting chimneys and walls.

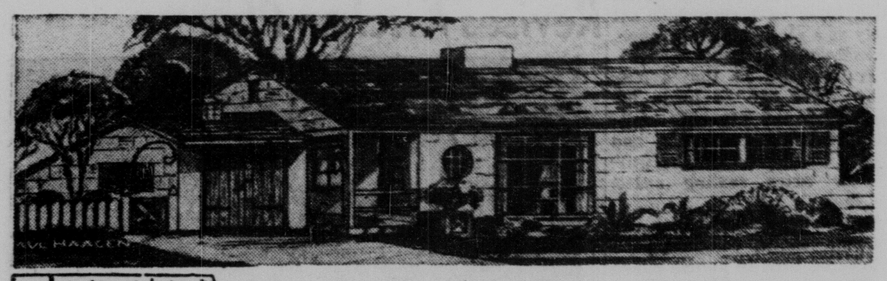

Part of the rebuilding of the White House in Washington involved the installation of a new lighting protection system. Bonded to that system were all metal objects, such as ventilators, television antenna and the flagpole. All roof conductors and flashing were grounded to water pipes and grounding rods.

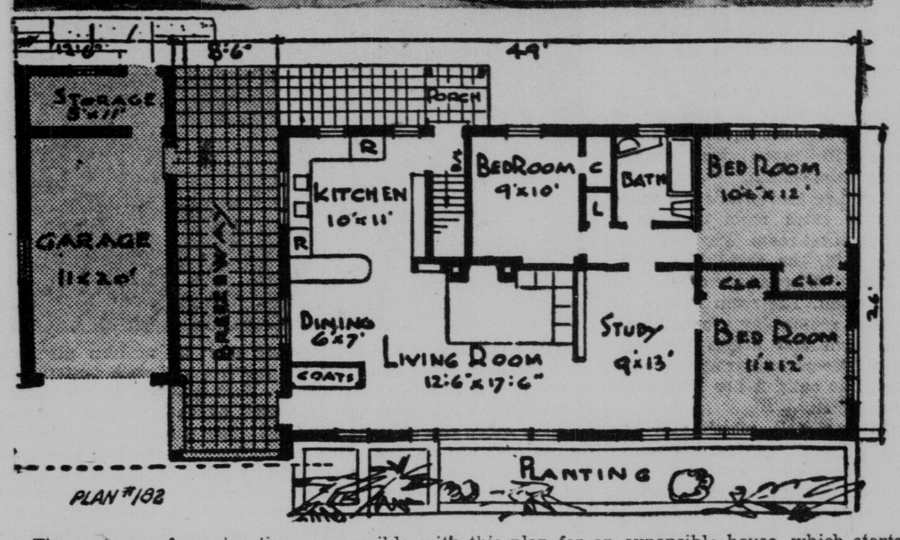

In 20 states, credits of 2 to 10 per cent are given in fire insurance policies covering buildings equipped with lightning rods that bear the master label of the Underwriters' Laboratories. Field inspectors check the installation of such systems.

CHOO-CHOO MOTIF . . . Authentic old train models form the design in this drapery and bedspread set designed by Bates and called "Union Pacific." The ensemble, of interest to model train collectors, commemorates the historic driving of the golden spike at Promontory, Utah, May 10, 1869, joining two railroads in the first transcontinental line.

A Home That Grows With Family

Three stages of construction are possible with this plan for an expansible house, which starts with the complete four-room cottage in the center and grows with addition of garage and breezeway on one side, then two extra bedrooms on the other side. Paul T. Haagen, architect, 360 No. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill., has kept this plan No. 182 in simple rectangular shape for economy of construction. Aside from bathroom passageway, there is no hall space. The house covers, 1,274 square feet without the garage wing.

Best Way To Paint Depends On Type Used

The best way to apply paint depends on the paint.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association recommends that flat paint be brushed in a semi-circular stroke, allowing the brush to leave the surface on the completed portion of the work.

Varnishes and enamels are flowed on with plenty of material carried on the brush in even strokes to maintain a uniform thickness.

Shellac is applied rapidly in straight back-and-forth strokes.

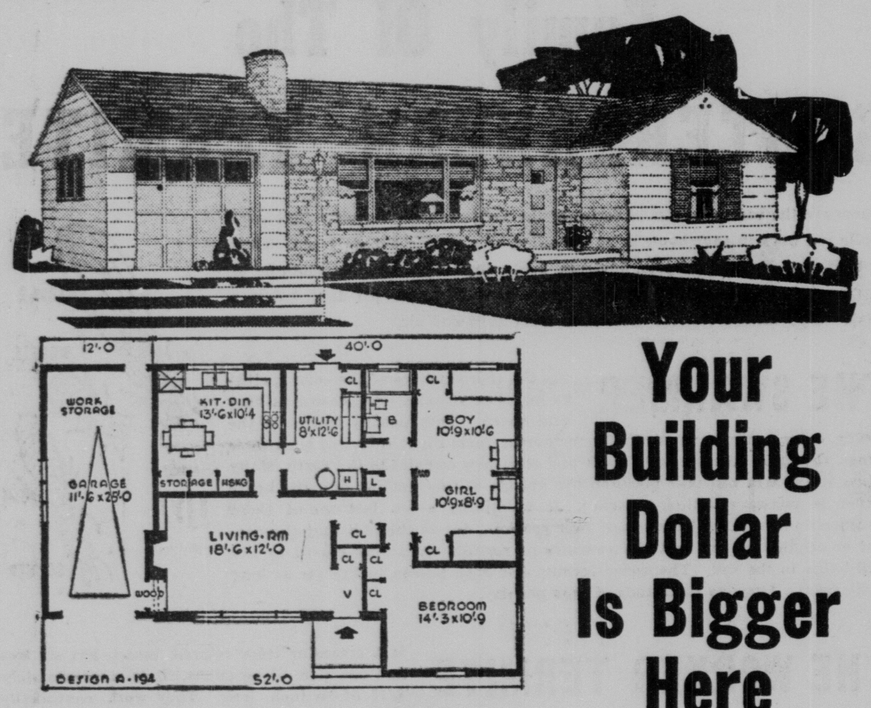

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—Smut has been prevalent in our corn patch for the past three years. What can be done to get rid of this disease?

A—The old gardener suggests that you rotate your crops, avoid the use of manure, sow seed only of those varieties known to be more or less resistant to smut, and remove and immediately burn smut boils when first discovered as well as burning all corn debris at the end of the season.

Your Building Dollar Is Bigger Here

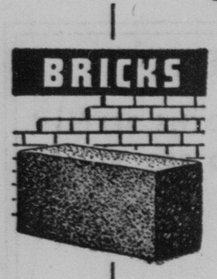

THE ARNOLD has a first floor that is formed by an insulated concrete slab laid on a gravel fill. Heating and laundry equipment is housed in the utility room and twelve well placed closets plus space in the large garage provide the storage room which is so important in the basementless house.

The two smaller bedrooms are separated by a folding partition and may be opened into a daytime playroom, or a solid partition can be substituted if desired. Closets are all of the wardrobe type which utilizes the space above for added storage room.

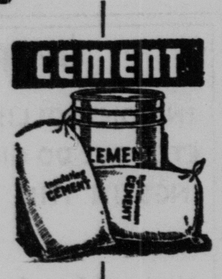

The plan also shows a fireplace with bookshelves and wood-box, picture window, entrance coat closets, generous cabinets and kitchen dining space, as well.

Exterior finish is siding, asphalt shingles and stone facing in front. Dimensions are 40 feet by 26 feet. Area is 1,132 square feet and cubage 12,926. not including garage.

Bathrooms Are Being Made Bigger

The bathroom is one of the most expensive rooms in a house. Its fixtures, fittings and finishing—usually tile or other easily cleaned surfaces—are all relatively costly. Heavier framing is called for, because of the weight of a tile floor and heavy bathroom fixtures. And then when the room is completed it is one of the most wasteful rooms.

So big changes are being made in bathrooms. They are becoming larger, accommodating built-in vanity counters around washstands, storage places for towels, soap and accessories, and they are being subdivided in compartments so that two or three persons can use the room in comparative privacy.

Sliding doors, mechanical ventilation and modern lighting make the compartmented bathroom entirely practical. Families most in need of an extra bathroom often can least afford one. So the divided bath solves a big problem.

More Space Is Needed

Few existing bathrooms are large enough to be subdivided. They were planned as small and compact as possible because of their high cost. But very often there is an adjoining closet or part of a room that can be merged with the bathroom by remodeling.

This additional space is essential. Crowded bathrooms have been hazards for both mother and child in the bathing and dressing of children. Space for two persons to move around avoids accidents. This is one of the reasons for the popularity of built-in vanities, providing adequate counter space for bathing a baby as well as secure tabling space for toilet articles and bottles.

One large compartmented bathroom calls for much less plumbing than two bathrooms, especially if they are widely separated or at some distance from the kitchen.

Various Money Savers

Efforts toward economy in bathroom finishing and fitting began many years ago and have achieved considerable progress. The introduction of rubber tile and asphalt tile in place of mosaic tile floors was one step. Waterproof wall papers and laminated plastic wall panels appeared. Stamped enameled steel fixtures, produced like automobile fenders, made colored bathtubs about the same price as heavier cast-iron white tubs.

A big advantage of stamped steel fixtures, especially in connection with remodeling, is their lightness. One man can handle a bathtub.

Oil Tank Whistle Prevents Overflow

Vent whistles are very useful on fuel oil tanks. Whether you have a tank buried in the yard or standing in the basement, the whistle is capped on the vent that extends out of doors. While the tank is being filled, air forced out of the vent sounds the whistle continuously until the fuel level is reached. When the whistle stops, the oil man knows the tank is full and no oil overflows to kill the grass.

SMALL HOUSE POPULAR

There are more than three times as many houses with four and five rooms as there are homes of seven or more rooms. According to the Housing and Home Finance Agency therea re approximately 16 million four and five-room houses; only 4,700,000 of seven rooms or more.

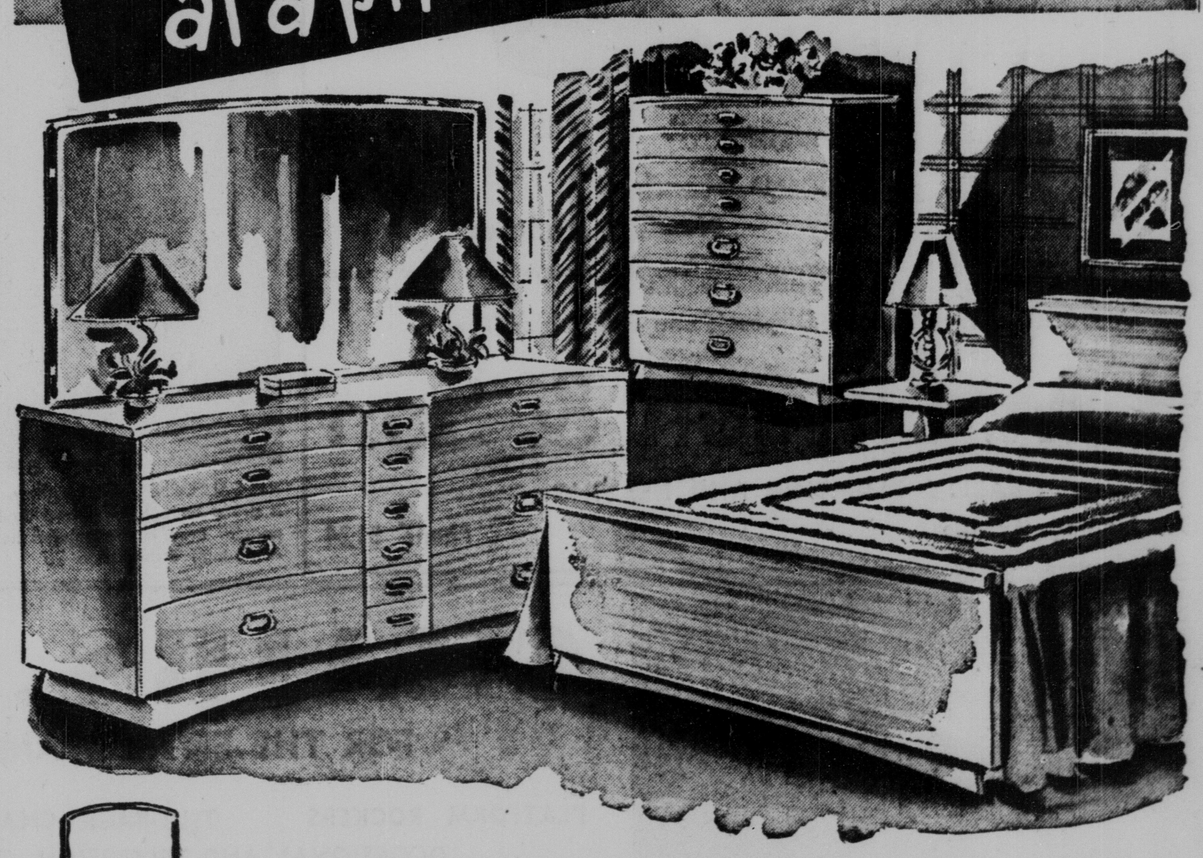

Tip On Caulking Corners

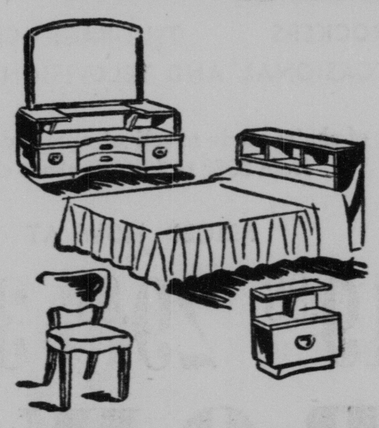

A flexible rubber hose fitted over the end of a caulking gun can be a big help in reaching difficult places. The end of the hose can be cut at the same angle as the original gun point.

MAKE EVERY ROOM COUNT

OUTDOORS INDOORS—Shutters, brick design wallpaper and iron furniture by Frances Lee. Lamps have sea shell bases.

Why not treat your entrance hall or foyer as a room and not merely as a place to pass through, asks decorator Frances Lee.,

Miss Lee suggests that a long narrow foyer can be made interesting by the use of wallpaper treatment and paint, and that a spacious one can be utilized for extra seating space. Says she:

"Architectural wallpaper (a brickwall motif, columns, etc.) or flowered urns in panels which are pasted to a painted wall, add particular interest to an otherwise dreary small foyer or entrance hall. If the foyer is large enough to make a grouping of loveseat and chairs, the arrangement will prove very handy when entertaining."

Miss Lee also pleads the cause of that extra room used as a den or guest room. Why not combine both, she asks? She illustrates by the example of one she did herself. The room is used as a guest room, play room, luncheon room and brings the outdoors indoors insofar as the motif goes. She calls it her Virgin Islands room.

On one wall, which also has two windows, she used a white brick wallpaper and put turquoise shutters at the window. In between the two windows is an over-sized bird cage with 12 Venezuelan sugar birds in all their gay plumage. Alongside that wall and between the two windows is a pale blue and gold wrought iron dining table and chairs.

The wall opposite is wallpapered in a shutter pattern and sea design with a dado of brick wallpaper.

MORE HOME OWNERS

There are more home owners than renters in the United States. More than 53 per cent of all nonfarm dwellings are owner occupied. In 1890 only three families in eight owned their own homes.

Oven Built in a Wall Revises Kitchen Plan

THE KITCHEN RANGE is coming apart in modern planning wtih the oven separated from top burners and each unit placed where it will be most convenient. Manufacturers of gas ranges (Chambers) have developed in-a-wall ovens and in-a counter burners which can be built into the kitchen the same as sinks and dishwashers are encased. This makes it possible to place an oven at convenient height and adjacent to a built-in baking board, while top burners can be located nearer to the sink. A second oven for broiling likewise can be built into the wall at another location determined by convenience. Insulation and adequate venting eliminate fire hazards.

Treating Two House Diseases: Depreciation and Obsolescence

All houses are subject to two major diseases—depreciation and obsolescence. A complete cure has not been developed for either of them. But there are such good remedies available that you can keep a house well ahead of their worst complications.

There's nothing to get panicky about. The seriousness of either of those afflictions is sometimes a matter of opinion. Fine old houses have survived both troubles for many generations. Yet occasionally you'll find fairly recently-built homes in advanced stages of decrepitude.

Depreciation is the easiest of the two to treat. The best medicine for it is a mixture of paint, nails, elbow grease and generous doses of general upkeep know-how.

Obsolescence, on the other hand, calls for real thought.

Importance of Remodeling

Sometimes careful remodeling goes far toward combatting obsolescence. If you feel that your house is becoming out of date because of its general design, competent architectural guidance may be able to remedy that.

There are architects who specialize to a great extent in remodeling work. They have the professional ability to plan a face-lifting operation that will involve correct proportions and pleasing appearances without courting a relapse through freakish misfits.

Your building contractor can give you an estimate on the most important phase of remodeling—the cost. And he can give you practical suggestions on materials and methods, even if he may lack talent in architectural design.

Much obsolescence, however, centers on equipment—a phase that is much easier to treat. Quality equipment is the best insurance against loss of value on this score. To buy cheap equipment of any kind is worse than false economy. It can aggravate obsolescence by speeding up depreciation.

In selecting new equipment for a house—a new heating plant, new garage doors, new kitchen and laundry appliances and built-ins—you have to beware of gadgets and novelties on every hand. Passing fancies are exactly what that term says.

Since major equipment is expected to give efficient service for many years, select it on a basis of past performance and buy it from a reputable dealer.

This conservatism does not freeze out new inventions and new developments, which may be combinations or adaptations of known and tested components. Great advances have been made in recent years in heating systems, for example. But even radiant coil heat in homes is more than 20 years old—a competent test.

And manufacturers with a reputation at stake spend years experimenting and testing new products before placing them on the market.

You can almost always bank on reputations.

THE CALIFORNIA-STYLE window, formed by a 2 by 4 framing, which is strong enough to support double sealed insulating glass, is now popular even in the smallest homes. This is a design by Rudolph A. Matern, architect.

Want Ads Will Get Workers

Family Of The SUBTERRANEAN TERMITE

These are the various castes or forms of the Subterranean Termites that work while you work in your home or at the office, only you do not see them. Their work is done in wood, carpets, linoleum, books, insulation on wires, clothing or any product that contains cellulose. They work 24 hours per day, 7 days a week. They always conceal themselves from light and air.

THE SWARMER are the reproductives of the colony, either males or females, and known as king and queen. They usually swarm in the spring, occasionally in the fall, after or during their flight they will shed their wings, then pair off male and female and start new colonies in the earth. Many times the swarm will take place on the outside of the building and the house owner is unaware of their presence. If by killing every last one of these swarmers you will not have solved your problem, due to the fact that the parent or original colony that the swarmer or reproductives were reared by are still living in the soil. The queen termite has been known to live for as long as 25 years. They lay thousands of eggs per day.

THE WORKER TERMITE is a cream or ivory colored insect, has six legs and one pair of antennas, it is approximately 3/16 of an inch long. They work continually gathering food which is wood or any cellulose product. This food is fed to the queen, king, soldiers and the young. The worker likewise cares for the eggs. Their entrance to a building is from the soil, usually up through the voids of wall irregardless as to whether the walls or brick, stone, concrete, block or tile. Yes, we have many times seen them work thru concrete where it was of a poor mix, rotted or cracked to as much as 20 inches thick. Their life span is usually two to three years.

THE SOLDIER TERMITE is very similar to the worker, slightly larger however, and has an armored red head with a pair of mandables or jaws in which they are used to protect the colonies from other invading insects. The soldiers and workers are both sterile and blind, however, many times they have been called the best air conditioning engineers in the world.
